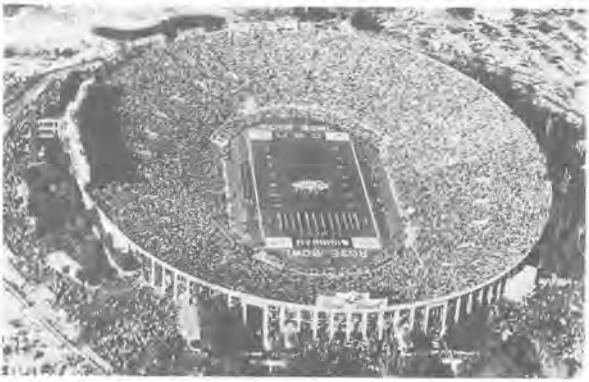
USC: AMERICA'S NO. 1 BOWL TEAM



USC and John Robinson have an incredible record in bowl games.

The Trojans have won six straight (including four Rose Bowls) and have both the most bowl wins (19) and highest winning percentage (.760) of any team in history. (To qualify for ranking, a team must have played in at least 10).

Robinson has won all four of his appearances as a head coach, including three Rose Bowls (beating Michigan twice and Ohio State once) and one Bluebonnet Bowl (over Texas A&M).

USC's overall post-season record is 19-6, including a 17-6 mark in the Rose Bowl.

JOHN ROBINSON
Head Football Coach

It hasn't taken long for John Robinson to establish himself as one of the country's foremost college football coaches.

You have to coach five years to qualify for ranking by the NCAA on its list of football's top winners—and after his first five, Robinson's percentage of .850 is second in the country.

The USC coach has compiled a 50-8-2 record, and along the way he's produced some other remarkable statistics:

—From early 1978 to late in the 1980 season, his teams shattered the USC record for most consecutive games without a loss, running off a 28-game unbeaten streak. The old record lasted 47 years.

—In his first four years he took the Trojans to four bowl games, three of them Rose Bowls, and won them all. (USC was ineligible for bowl participation in 1980.)

—His 1978 team won the national championship (UPI poll) with a 12-1 record, and his 1979 squad was unbeaten (11-0-1).

—And in succession, his teams have finished 2nd, 12th, 1st, 2nd and 11th in the final polls.

USC's bowl victories include Rose Bowl wins over Michigan (1977, 1979) and Ohio State (1980) and a rout of Texas A&M in the Bluebonnet Bowl (1977).

For his success John was voted national Coach of the Year in 1979 by the Washington Touchdown Club and also Pac-10 and West Coast Coach of the Year in both 1976 and 1978.

In 1976, Robinson was also the first rookie head coach from the Pac-10 to take a team to the Rose Bowl in 25 years—and the first to win it in 61.

In an era when coaches are changing jobs at a rapid pace, Robinson reemphasized his commitment to USC and college football late in 1979 by signing a new five-year contract. After the 1980 season he extended it to five years again.

"My involvement with USC has been the most rewarding experience of my life," he said. "I've thoroughly enjoyed the opportunity to work with young men here at the university level—both on and off the field. It's one of the biggest rewards in coaching.

"These five years have also brought me a genuine love for this school and its family. I can't emphasize strongly enough how much a part of my life USC has become."

Bright and innovative, Robinson has produced five straight potent offensive teams and maintained USC's great heritage of defensive excellence.

The 1976, 77 and 79 teams finished third, fourth and fourth in the country in total offense—and the 1979 team gained more yards than any team in Trojan history.

Defensively, the Trojans have finished first in the Pac-10 three times and second once in team defense under Robinson, and the 1980 team led the conference in every single team defensive category.

Robinson grew up with another successful coach, the recently retired John Madden of the Oakland Raiders. Born in Chicago July 25, 1935, and raised in San Mateo,

ROBINSON AND TAILBACK MARCUS ALLEN

Calif., Robinson went to grammar school with Madden and later served as the best man in his wedding.

At San Mateo's Serra High, John played football and baseball, winning Catholic All-American and All-Northern California honors at end for the football team.

At Oregon, where he received a bachelor's degree in education in 1958, Robinson was a letterman end when the Ducks won the Pacific Coast Conference title in 1957. He played briefly in Oregon's 10-7 loss to Ohio State in the Rose Bowl.

When he took the job at USC, John was well prepared. He brought with him 16 years of full-time coaching experience—12 as an assistant at Oregon (1960-71), 3 as John McKay's offensive coordinator at USC (1972-74) and 1 as backfield coach of the Oakland Raiders (1975).

The Trojan coach and his wife, Barbara, now live in La Habra, a Los Angeles suburb. They have two daughters, Teresa, 20, and Lynn, 19, and two sons, David, 16, and Christopher, 13.

ASSISTANT COACHES

MARV GOUX

Assistant Head Coach
Defensive Line

Sometimes you get the feeling there can't be a Trojan fan anywhere who hasn't heard of Marv Goux.

Named assistant head coach in 1977 by John Robinson, the inspirational Goux is in his 25th season on the USC staff. He was one of only two assistants to coach during the entire John McKay era, when the Trojans won four national titles and went to eight Rose Bowls.

The 49-year-old Goux has coached 11 first team All-Americans, including Gary Jeter, John Grant, Charles Weaver, Al Cowlings, Jimmy Gunn, Tim Rossovich, Damon Bame, Dan Ficca, Ron Mix, and Marlin and the late Mike McKeever.

Marv first became a USC assistant back in 1957 under Don Clark. For three years he was both head freshman coach and varsity assistant, before moving up to the varsity full-time when McKay took over in 1960.

Except for a season as a high school coach, Marv has been a Trojan since 1952, when he started at linebacker for the USC Rose Bowl team that blanked Wisconsin, 7 to 0. Before he was through as a player, Goux had started three years, including 1954 and 1955, when he went both ways, performing at both linebacker and center.

Small at 5-10 and 185 pounds, Goux made up for his lack of size with quickness and great desire. He is one of just two Trojans to twice win the Davis-Teschke Award, given anually to USC's most inspirational player. Marv won that honor in 1954 and 1955, after coming back from a back injury that sidelined him for all of 1953. He was also elected co-captain in 1955.

In 1956, after graduation, Goux coached Carpinteria High School to the small school CIF finals with a record of 9-1.

JOHN JACKSON

Offensive Coordinator
Running Backs

Now in his sixth year of coaching USC's running backs, John Jackson has had dazzling success in his first five.

In 1979, tailback Charles White, who began his Trojan career the same season Jackson did, not only was a runaway choice for the Heisman Trophy, but also set 22 NCAA, Pac-10, USC and Rose Bowl records.

White finished as the NCAA's second leading rusher of all time with 5,598 yards. His career average was 5.44 a carry, and Charlie ripped off 31 100-yard games.

Jackson's current star, Marcus Allen, goes into 1981 as another Heisman Trophy candidate, after running for 1,563 yards in only 10 games last season—his first as the tailback. He was the country's second leading rusher and No. 1 all purpose runner.

Now 45, the personable Jackson has also coached unanimous All-American tailback Ricky Bell and the leading rusher from fullback in USC history, Lynn Cain. USC's running attacks have surpassed 3,000 yards in four of his five seasons.

One of four coaches hired by John Robinson shortly after he became head coach, Jackson came to USC from Illinois, where he was assisting one of the country's winningest coaches, Bob Blackman.

Jackson first joined Blackman at Dartmouth in 1970, coaching the backs and receivers for a team that went 9-0-0. When Blackman moved to Illinois in 1971, he took Jackson with him, and for five seasons, John coached the backfield for the Illini.

Previously, in 1968 and 1969, Jackson was offensive coordinator for the football team and head coach of the track team at Hofstra.

He had a successful high school career, coaching Boys High School in Brooklyn from 1965 to 1967, where he was twice named New York metropolitan Coach of the Year. While coaching at Boys High, he was also Dean of Students at his old school, Brooklyn Tech.

A 1956 graduate of NYU, Jackson earned bachelor's and master's degrees there in physical education.

John also served three years in the Marines, attaining the rank of captain. A Brooklyn native, he was born Feb. 4, 1936.

R.C. SLOCUM

Defensive Coordinator
Inside Linebackers

As USC's new defensive coordinator, R.C. Slocum is used to success at stopping the other side.

The 37-year-old Slocum joined the Trojan staff last winter after nine years as an assistant with Texas A&M, the last eight as a defensive coach. In four of those eight years the Aggies finished in the top six teams in the country in total defense. In 1975 they finished first.

Working under head coaches Emory Bellard and Tom Wilson, Slocum coached receivers for a year (1972), defensive ends for three (1973-75) and linebackers for five (1976-80). His 1976 linebacker, Robert Jackson, was a unanimous All-American.

Slocum spent his last three seasons with Texas A&M as the defensive coordinator.

Born Nov. 7, 1944, Slocum played football at McNeese State (Lake Charles, La.), where he was chosen the team's most valuable lineman in 1967, playing both offensive and defensive end. A four-year letterman, he finished his career as the leading receiver in the school's history.

R.C. made the President's Honor Roll in college, graduating in 1968 with a bachelor's degree in education. He earned a master's degree in educational administration from McNeese State in 1969.

Slocum began his coaching career at Lake Charles High, handling the defense in 1968 and 1969. He then moved to Kansas State under Vince Gibson, coaching the freshman team's offensive line in 1970 and serving as head freshman coach in 1971 (2-2 record). He went to Texas A&M in 1972.

The Aggies went to four bowl games in Slocum's nine seasons there, winning the 1976 Sun and 1978 Hall of Fame Bowls and losing the 1975 Liberty and 1977 Bluebonnet Bowls, ironically, to USC.

Slocum has also had exposure to pro football in Canada, coaching the linebackers as a guest coach for the Saskatchewan Roughriders in the summers of 1974 and 1976.

ARTIE GIGANTINO

Outside Linebackers

Energetic and enthusiastic, 30-year-old Artie Gigantino is in his third year on the USC staff, after spending six years as an assistant at California.

In 1980, one of Gigantino's USC linebackers, Chip Banks, was a third team All-American and first team All-Pac-10 choice, while another, Byron Darby, was honorable mention All-Pac-10.

At Cal, Artie coached the defensive line for four years (1975-78) and also served as the Bears' recruiting coordinator in his last season in Berkeley. In his first two seasons with the Bears (1973-74) he worked with the outside linebackers as a part-time coach and graduate assistant.

Born June 14, 1951, Gigantino played linebacker, tailback and fullback and also wrestled and played baseball at J.P. Stevens High School in Edison, N.J.

At Bridgeport University in Bridgeport, Conn., Artie was a three-year starter at linebacker during seasons in which the school won 22 straight games.

When he first became a full-time assistant at Cal, Gigantino was only 23, which made him one of the youngest full-time coaches in the country.

Later, when Mike White was replaced by Roger Theder as the Bears' head coach in 1978, Gigantino was one of only three staff members to be hired back by Theder.

GIL HASKELL

Special Teams, Wide Receivers

Now in his fourth year on the USC staff, Haskell has taken on the added duty of coaching the wide receivers, after handling all of USC's special teams in his first three years.

In 1978 Gil coached Frank Jordan, who kicked 11 field goals, including the 37-yarder that beat Notre Dame with two seconds left. And among his special teams players in 1979 was Ray Butler, the nation's third leading punt returner with a 14.4 average.

Eric Hipp, a Haskell kicker in 1979-80, booted 13 field goals last season, including the 47-yarder that beat Tennessee with no time left.

Haskell came to USC after nine years at St. Ignatius High in San Francisco, where he turned in a 34-15 record as head coach the last five, after spending four as an assistant. He was also track coach four years, winning three Catholic Athletic League titles.

Gil began his career at Riordan High, also in San Francisco, serving as line coach for three years. He coached the Riordan track team to two league titles in three seasons.

The 38-year-old Haskell played on three Far West Conference champion football teams at San Francisco State as a defensive back. He was all-conference as a senior and "Little" All-Coast second team. He had a tryout with the San Francisco 49ers.

Born September 24, 1943, Gil played football and baseball at St. Ignatius High. He was a halfback and defensive back on three St. Ignatius champion football teams of the 3-A Division in San Francisco and a catcher on two 3-A Division champion baseball squads.

Haskell's uncle, the late Dr. William O'Grady, was a part-owner of the San Francisco 49ers, and before coming to USC in 1978, Gil had not missed a 49er home game in 22 years.

HUDSON HOUCK

Offensive Line

When John Robinson became USC's head football coach in late 1975, the first man he hired was Hudson Houck.

And in five years Hudson has become recognized as one of the great offensive line coaches in the country.

Five of his players have won first team All-American honors—tackles Marvin Powell and Keith Van Horne and guards Brad Budde, Pat Howell and Roy Foster.

Howell and Budde, in fact, were unanimous picks and Van Horne was a consensus choice. Budde was also the 1979 winner of the Lombardi Award as the outstanding lineman in the country.

Now 38, Houck came to USC after four years at Stanford, the last three as offensive line coach (1973 to 1975), but it was also a homecoming. He was a former Trojan player and freshman coach.

Born January 7, 1943, Hudson played and coached under John McKay. He was a reserve center on the national championship Trojan team of 1962, then started the last four games and lettered in 1963. Heavily counted on in 1964, Houck injured his back and played sparingly, the bad back keeping him from lettering.

A 1965 graduate of USC with a bachelor's degree in physical education, Houck was an assistant football coach and teacher at Crescenta Valley High School in 1967 and 1969. His career was interrupted twice by service in the Army.

Hudson came back to USC the first time in 1970 and spent two seasons as head freshman coach and varsity graduate assistant. His 1971 Trobabes—USC's last freshman team—went 4-0 and boasted such stars as Anthony Davis, Pat Haden, Richard Wood, Johnny McKay, Charles Phillips, Allen Carter and Marvin Cobb.

NATE SHAW

Secondary

Now in his second year on the USC staff—he coached the wide receivers and tight ends in 1980—Shaw returns to his old home, the secondary. He's already made a big mark there as a Trojan.

Back in 1966 Nate was a first team All-American cornerback for John McKay's Trojans, finishing his career with 10 interceptions for 165 yards.

The 36-year-old Shaw came back to USC from Oregon State where he coached the secondary for four years (1976-79) and turned out a pair of All-Pac-10 defensive backs, Jay Locey (1976) and Tim Smith (1978).

Born May 20, 1945 in San Diego, Shaw was a football, basketball and baseball star at San Diego Lincoln High, winning football All-American honors. He then spent a year at San Diego Junior College, where he was a second team All-American defensive back.

A three-year letterman for USC, Shaw played for the Trojans from 1964 through 1966, winning All-Coast and All-Pac-8 honors in 1965, before being named All-American in 1966.

After spending two years in the Army in Korea, Shaw played defensive back for the Rams from 1969 to mid-1971, when a knee injury ended his career.

Before going to Oregon State in 1976, Shaw coached the secondary at Los Angeles Southwest College in 1974 and 1975.

NORVAL TURNER

Quarterbacks

Former Oregon quarterback Norv Turner once fired a touchdown pass against USC. Now he coaches the Trojan quarterbacks.

The 29-year-old Turner, in his sixth year on the USC staff, replaced Paul Hackett as quarterback coach last spring, after Hackett went to the Cleveland Browns. Last season Norv coached the secondary, turning out safeties Ronnie Lott and Dennis Smith, who won first and third team All-American honors, respectively.

From 1977 to 1979 Norv coached the receivers and rookie quarterbacks, working with such players as flanker Kevin Williams and tight ends Hoby Brenner and James Hunter, all of whom won first or second team All-Pac-10 honors. In 1976 he was a part-time coach in his first year on the staff.

Currently ninth on Oregon's all-time passing list with 1,807 yards and 11 touchdowns, Turner lettered three years for the Ducks, started as a junior and senior and was named co-captain as a senior.

USC's national champions barely defeated Oregon and Turner, 16-7, in 1974 in a game made closer by Norv's 45-yard second quarter touchdown pass to Greg Bauer.

Born May 17, 1952, Turner was a quarterback and defensive back at Alhambra High in Martinez, California, going both ways as a senior and leading his team to a 9-0 mark and league championship.

Turner's best year at Oregon was his final one when he threw for 1,261 yards, completing 99 of 202 passes. He was named ABC-TV's Player of the Game in a regionally televised 27-23 victory over Air Force.

Norv graduated from Oregon in 1975 with a bachelor's degree in history, and spent one year as a graduate assistant on the Duck staff.

JERRY ATTAWAY

Strength Coach

Jerry Attaway, in his fourth year on the USC staff, is now the full-time strength coach—in charge of physical conditioning for the team.

In his first three seasons with USC (1978-80), Jerry not only was in charge of conditioning, but also helped coach the offensive line. He came from Utah State where he had spent two years on the staff of former Trojan assistant Bruce Snyder as the outside linebacker coach.

Jerry played football with former Trojan assistant Paul Hackett as a junior cornerback at UC Davis but was forced to quit in his first year there after suffering cardiac arrest. After a year away from the sport, he returned to assist Hackett with the UC Davis frosh.

At the same time he was a UC Davis coach, Attaway continued his education at Sacramento State and graduated in 1972 with a physical education degree.

Following graduation, he served as an assistant coach at College of Idaho for three years.

The 35-year-old Attaway was born in Susanville, January 3, 1946, and played four sports at Lassen High there. He played football for two years at Yuba Junior College before transferring to UC Davis.

FOSTER ANDERSEN

Tight Ends

Foster Andersen may be the only football coach in Los Angeles history who has coached for USC, UCLA and the Rams.

The 41-year-old Andersen rejoins the Trojan staff this year to work with the tight ends, after doing some part-time scouting work for USC during the 1980 season. He had previously been an assistant under both John McKay (1974-75) and John Robinson (1976).

In his first two seasons as a Trojan assistant, Andersen coached the offensive line, and then he took over the outside linebackers in 1976, the year USC allowed only 93 points in winning its last 11 games. He coached David Lewis and Rod Martin.

In 1977 Andersen moved to UCLA and coached the secondary, and then in 1978 he coached the offensive line with the Rams.

Born March 11, 1940 in Los Angeles, Foster was an All-CIF guard at Mark Keppel High School. He was a three-year starter at both offensive and defensive tackle for UCLA, playing under Bill Barnes from 1959 to 1961. He started in the 1962 Rose Bowl against Minnesota, and got his bachelor's degree in history.

A graduate assistant at UCLA in 1962, Andersen spent 1963 as an assistant at Pasadena City College, before going into the Army. He served four years (1964-67), spending one of them as a military adviser in Vietnam and rising to the rank of captain.

When he was discharged from the Army, Foster coached one more season at PCC (1967), two years as defensive coordinator at East Los Angeles College (1968-69) and one season as defensive coordinator at Cal State L.A. (1970), before assuming the head coaching job there in 1971.

During that period he also went back to UCLA to get a master's degree in history (1969). He was head coach at Cal State L.A. for three seasons (1971-73) before being hired by John McKay in 1974.

WALT RANSOM

Quarterbacks, Wide Receivers

A backup quarterback for three years at USC, Ransom returns to the Trojans this year to assist Norv Turner and Gil Haskell with the quarterbacks and wide receivers. This is his first coaching job.

A redshirt in 1976 with the Trojans, Ransom appeared in one game in both 1977 and 1978, before graduating with a bachelor's degree in physical education in 1979. He then began his own business—Walt Ransom Roofing in Huntington Beach—which he still runs.

Now 30, Ransom was the Trojans' oldest player during his career, coming to USC after two brilliant years of JC football and four years of minor league baseball.

In 1968 Walt was the No. 1 draft choice of the Boston Red Sox, after hitting .400 as the first team All-City shortstop for South Gate. He was also the All-City quarterback and led South Gate to the 1967 Eastern League Title.

After four years in the Red Sox farm system, Ransom went on to East Los Angeles Junior College, where a new rule allowing collegians to be professionals in one sport and amateurs in another allowed him to play football again.

As a 23-year-old JC freshman quarterback in 1974, he and future Trojan Lynn Cain led East L.A. to the California state championship. Walt not only directed the team to a 9-1-2 mark, but completed 50.6% of his passes (46 of 91) for five touchdowns.

In 1975 he was an honorable mention JC All-American pick, leading East L.A. to a 7-1 record before being injured. In less than a full season he completed 100 of 192 passes (52.1%) for 1,512 yards and 12 TD's.

MARK WATSON

Secondary

Mark Watson, a head coach in high school for six years, is in his first season on the Trojan staff, assisting Nate Shaw with the secondary.

Watson coached Fort Bragg High in Northern California to a 6-3 record in 1975, and then took over Liberty High in the East Bay, turning in a 27-17 record in five years (1976-80).

Before Watson arrived, Liberty had a losing record, but he rebuilt the program and won a league championship during that time.

Born Dec. 19, 1950, Mark was an all-league tailback and defensive back at Alhambra High in Martinez, Calif., before going on to play at USF. He was a tailback for two seasons and a defensive back for one, before the Dons gave up football his senior year. He won small college Northern California Player of the Week honors one time during his career.

Graduating in 1972 with a bachelor's degree in political science, Watson got his secondary teaching credential in 1973 and later got a master's degree in physical education at St. Mary's in 1980.

He began his coaching year at his alma mater, Alhambra, working as an assistant in 1973 and 1974, before becoming head coach at Fort Bragg.

ORIGIN OF USC'S NICKNAME — TROJANS

USC's nickname, "Trojans," originated in 1912. Up to that time the University of Southern California teams were called the Methodists or Wesleyans, nicknames which were not looked upon with favor by university officials.

So, Warren Bovard, director of athletics and son of university president Dr. George Bovard, asked Los Angeles Times sports editor Owen Bird to select an appropriate nickname.

"At this time, the athletes and coaches of the university were under terrific handicaps," recalled Bird. "They were facing teams that were bigger and better-equipped, yet they had splendid fighting spirit. The name 'Trojans' fitted them.

"I came out with an article prior to a showdown between USC and Stanford in which I called attention to the fighting spirit of USC athletes and named them 'Trojans.' From then on, we used the term 'Trojan' all the time, and it stuck.

"The term 'Trojan' as applied to USC means to me that no matter what the situation, what the odds or what the conditions, the competition must be carried on to the end and those who strive must give all they have and never be weary in doing so."

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

DR. RICHARD H. PERRY

In the athletic director's office at USC there's no hint of an energy crisis.

In six years on the job, energetic Dick Perry has maintained the remarkable tradition of the country's most successful athletic department.

USC is far and away the leader in national team titles won, and given Dick's constant support, the Trojans have added 16 more national championships in his era—eight by the men and eight by the women.

In the last six years Dick has built a national reputation as an administrator, fund raiser and public speaker and taken an active part as a leader both within the Pac-10 and the NCAA.

When he was appointed athletic director by USC president Dr. John Hubbard in November, 1975, Dick was an associate professor of physical education at USC, a post he had held for eight years. He had also been involved in the university leadership. A member of the faculty senate for six years, he served as president of that body in 1974-75.

And, of course, he brought a strong background in athletics to his new job. Before coming to USC, he was head basketball coach at California State University, Long Beach, for nine years and also spent three seasons there as assistant football coach.

In 1975-76, he served as president of the Southwest District of the American Alliance for Health, Physical Education and Recreation. He was president of the California Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation in 1971-72.

When Dick became head basketball coach at Long Beach in 1958, there was no scholarship help and the team was playing exclusively small colleges. He built the program to a level where the 49ers were playing intersectional games with such teams as Oklahoma State, Wichita State and Creighton and playing double-headers with USC and UCLA.

His Long Beach team reached the finals of the College Division Western Regional playoffs in 1960.

Dick left Cal State, Long Beach when offered an associate professorship at USC in 1967 and received his Ph.D. degree from USC in 1968.

Born July 13, 1929, Dick graduated from Long Beach Wilson High School and received his bachelor's degree from the College of Emporia in Kansas in 1951 and his master's degree from Kansas State Teachers College.

Dick and his wife, Donna, live in Garden Grove, and they have four children—three of them USC graduates. Jim, 29, is an assistant basketball coach at Loyola (L.A.) whose wife's name is Pilar. Joan, 25, is married to Kurt Bischofberger, and John, 23, graduated this past June after playing with the football team as a punter. The Perrys' youngest daughter, Janelle, is 15.

A LOOK AT USC IN 1981 . . .

In five years at USC, John Robinson has climbed swiftly to second place in winning percentages among all active college coaches. His 50-8-2 mark (.850 percentage) includes a school-record 28-game unbeaten streak, a 4-0 mark in bowl games, a national championship in 1978 and an unbeaten season in 1979.

Now he looks forward to 1981 and USC's bid for a return to the Rose Bowl. (The Trojans and four other Pac-10 teams were ineligible in 1980.)

While the coach is as optimistic as ever, he will begin the season with one of his most inexperienced teams. The Trojans return only 12 starters — six on offense and six on defense.

"The key to our season is how we perform as a unit early in the year," Robinson says. "Because we're so inexperienced in a lot of areas, I don't expect us to beat teams just with offense, or just with defense, or just with special teams. We've got to play the total game very well.

"We need time for new players in such key positions as quarterback, fullback, tight end, flanker, center and the secondary to mature. I like the people there, but they sure haven't played very much — and some haven't played for us at all.

"But there's something about this team that excites me. I came out of spring ball very enthusiastic about our players' attitudes. They remind me a little of our 1978 national champions.

"They've got a great willingness to work, the motivation of getting back on top and a healthy fear because of our inexperience.

"If you analyzed us objectively, you wouldn't pick us as an obvious favorite to win the conference title. But I don't think there's a player on our team that would accept that."

Last year's team started 7-0-1, lost two games and then upset unbeaten Notre Dame in the season finale, 20-3. The Trojans finished 8-2-1 and were ranked 11th in the final poll.

Among the 10 lost starters were five former first team All-Pac-10 players, including unanimous All-American safety Ronnie Lott and consensus All-American offensive tackle Keith Van Horne. The others include safety Dennis Smith, flanker Kevin Williams, whose 25 TD catches are the most in USC history, and inside linebacker Riki Gray.

Gray, a three-year starter, is redshirting as a senior this season because of spring knee surgery. He may be back in 1982.

Besides inexperience, USC will also be challenged by the schedule which includes intersectional games with Oklahoma, Notre Dame, Tennessee and Indiana. Robinson calls it "our most difficult non-league schedule since I've been here."

OFFENSE

The 1980 offense averaged 100 yards a game less than the 1979 attack which set a school record for total offense (471 yards down to 371). The new offense is young, but it has three all-star candidates in the line — guards Roy

GUARD BRUCE MATTHEWS

TACKLE CHARLES USSERY

CORNERBACK JOEY BROWNER

NOSE GUARD GEORGE ACHICA

Foster and Bruce Matthews and tackle Don Mosebar — and a Heisman Trophy candidate in senior tailback Marcus Allen.

In his first year as the tailback last season, Allen was the nation's No. 2 rusher (156.3 yards a game) and No. 1 all-purpose runner (179.4). In just 10 games — he missed the 11th with an eye injury — he ran for 1,563 yards and 14 touchdowns, led the team in pass receiving with 30 catches, and was even two-for-two as a passer, including a perfect 36-yard strike for a TD.

He rushed for over 200 yards in three different games (216 against both Washington and Minnesota, 201 against Arizona) and just missed a fourth 200-yard day, hitting 195 against Stanford. He was first team All-Pac-10 and second team All-American and is a pre-season All-American this year.

"Marcus is one of the top two or three players in the country," says Robinson. "He's a true Renaissance man as a football player — a superb runner and accurate passer, an outstanding blocker and one of the best pass receiving backs I've ever seen in college. He's also very bright and very competitive."

Backing up Allen at tailback are two excellent juniors who shared the job in the upset of Notre Dame when Marcus was hurt — Michael Harper (274 yards, 5.0 average, 3 TD's last year) and Anthony Gibson (226 yards, 4.9 average).

The rest of the backfield will probably have three new starters.

At quarterback, the man with the edge going into fall is lefthanded sophomore John Mazur, who has a strong arm but not a single minute of college experience. There's also junior Scott Tinsley, who started against UCLA and Notre Dame last year when senior regular Gordon Adams was hurt, and junior Jim Arrivey.

Tinsley completed 25 of 45 passes (56%) for 301 yards and 3 touchdowns, while Arrivey played briefly in one game and directed a scoring drive.

"All three are good quarterbacks," said Robinson, "and all could still win the job. But Mazur holds a narrow lead."

Also on hand this fall is 6-5 freshman Sean Salisbury, a high school All-American.

At fullback the Trojans have a committee still seeking the job, including sophomore Todd Spencer, an ex-tailback who had a great spring (2 carries, 7 yards last year); junior Bob McClanahan (14 carries, 99 yards, 7.1 average, TD runs of 19 and 21 yards); senior Doug MacKenzie, last year's co-starter for half the season (17 carries, 76 yards, 4.5 average) and freshman Michael Alo, the two-time Los Angeles City Co-Player of the Year.

MacKenzie is a question mark, because he missed both the last half of last season and all of spring practice after two knee operations. Junior Thomas Jefferson, another spring candidate, will be redshirted this year. He's academically ineligible.

At flanker the new starter is 9.6 sprinter Timmy White, a junior who snagged 5 passes for a 23.6 average and a 59-yard score. And behind him is senior Brad Anderson, who might be the best pure receiver on the team.

The starting split end, acrobatic junior Jeff Simmons, returns after an excellent sophomore year in which he caught 21 passes for a 14.7 average and 4 touchdowns. Back also at split end is 6-5 junior Malcolm Moore, who caught 8 passes for a 16.8 average.

Everybody who played at tight end last fall is gone, but Robinson has high hopes for junior Fred Cornwell, who will start. He's the only Trojan tight end who's ever caught a pass — one. Just behind him are sophomore Mark Boyer and junior Pat McCool.

USC has had five first team All-Americans in the offensive line in Robinson's five years and the three players mentioned at the beginning of this section — senior guard Roy Foster, junior guard Bruce Matthews and junior tackle Don Mosebar are all of that caliber.

Foster was a first team UPI All-American as a junior and was also voted Pac-10 Offensive Lineman of the Year by the league's defensive linemen, and voted first team All-Pac-10 honors for the second straight year.

"Foster is an outstanding candidate for this year's Outland Trophy and Lombardi Award," says Robinson. "He's improved dramatically each year. He's big, he's got excellent speed, he's intelligent, and he's also very ambitious.

"Mosebar has got to be as good a junior lineman as we've ever had. He's gone from being a very good player to a great one. He'll be a four-year starter for us, and he's definitely an All-American candidate this year.

"And Matthews will be an All-American in 1982. He's very physical, he's made remarkable improvement in his speed, and he's as intelligent as any offensive lineman we've ever had."

Foster is the strongside guard, while Mosebar and Matthews play next to each other as the weakside tackle and guard.

Co-starters at strong tackle are inexperienced juniors Darryl Moore and Kelly Thomas, while the new center will be junior Tony Slaton, who played only 28 minutes last year but brings great potential to the job.

A key backup at both guard and tackle is junior Joe Murray.

DEFENSE

USC led the Pac-10 in every single team defensive category last year, and Chip Banks, the man who led that defense in both tackles (107) and tackles for a loss (15 for 101 yards), is back to wreak more havoc. He moves from outside to inside linebacker to get in on even more action.

"Chip can become the dominant defensive player in college football this year," says Robinson, "and the best linebacker in the HISTORY of USC. He's got great physical gifts — size, speed, balance and the natural instincts to take him as far as he wants to go.

"He's as good a big play performer as I've ever coached."

First team All-Pac-10 last year and a pre-season All-American this year, Banks not only led USC in tackles in 1980, but also broke up 10 passes, recovered 2 fumbles, threw a Cal back for a safety, had at least one tackle for a loss in 10 different games, was second on the defense in minutes played and made 2 incredible interceptions.

In his most memorable steal he snatched a pass out of the air five feet from Notre Dame quarterback Mike Courey's throwing hand and ran it back 49 yards to the Irish one to set up the field goal that finished Notre Dame off.

In front of Banks is an outstanding defensive line in which every starter returns. And each one of them won all-star honors last fall.

Senior tackle Dennis Edwards was first team All-Pac-10 and third team All-American. He's made 34 tackles for a loss in three years. He had 58 total tackles, a fumble recovery and a pair of passes broken up last fall.

Senior tackle Charlie Ussery was an honorable mention All-Pac-10 choice, as he made 61 tackles, including 9 for a loss, and broke up 2 passes.

And junior nose guard George Achica was first team All-Pac-10, as he tied for fourth on the team in tackles with 69, including 11 for a loss.

"Edwards has outstanding quickness and is one of the most competitive players I've ever coached," says Robinson. "He's one of the best tackles in the country.

"Ussery is aggressive, determined, and very physical and seldom makes an error.

"Achica is a natural football player who's got strength, speed, good instincts and plays with great enthusiasm."

There's another returning starter at weakside, outside linebacker, junior Byron Darby. Byron was Mr. Versatility in 1980, starting three games at outside backer and four at tackle because of injuries to others, but he'll stay outside this fall, because of his great speed.

As a sophomore, Darby was second only to Banks in team tackles for a loss — 14 for 78 yards. He made 59 total tackles, broke up 2 passes and recovered a fumble.

"Darby is on his way to being one of the great defensive players in the country." says Robinson. "He's got quickness and good instincts and he sure is tough."

Sharing the job on the strong side are junior August Curley, who started two games in relief last fall, made 36 tackles (4 for a loss) and recovered 2 fumbles, and sophomore Keith Browner, who played on all of the kickoff and punt teams and made 14 tackles and recovered a fumble.

With the loss of three-year starter Riki Gray to knee surgery, there's a fight for the job of playing next to Banks at inside linebacker. Included in the cast are inexperienced juniors Tim Sullivan and Jeff Metter and junior JC transfer Vic Vaca, a second team All-State pick in California.

Coming in to compete this fall are three outstanding freshmen — Jack Del Rio, John Berry and Neil Hope. Del Rio and Hope were prep All-Americans.

Three of the four starters in the secondary graduated, but the lone returnee, cornerback Joey Browner, is outstanding. As a sophomore, he tied for fourth on the team in tackles with 69, recovered 2 fumbles, broke up 9 passes, made an interception and returned 4 kickoffs for a 24-yard average.

"Before he's through, Joey may be the best cornerback I've had in my career," says Robinson. "He's got excellent physical gifts — size, speed and the ability to really hit. He's also become a team leader."

Joining Browner in the secondary are senior Joe Turner at the other corner (2 pass deflections, 6 tackles last year), junior JC transfer Troy West at strong safety and junior Marv Williams (7 tackles) at free safety. Sophomore Tony Brewer (6 tackles) is close to Williams.

Two freshmen, Matt Johnson and Duaine Jackson, and a fall JC transfer, sophomore Darrel Hopper, could also help right away in the secondary. Hopper was the 1979 Los Angeles City Co-Player of the Year.

KICKERS

The Trojans have three kickers, including junior punter Dave Pryor, who's had the job for two years (48 kicks, 39.8 average in 1980). Fighting it out at placekicker are sophomore Scott Livingston, who can also punt, and freshman Steve Jordan, brother of ex-Trojan Frank Jordan, who holds the school career field goal record.

SPLIT END JEFF SIMMONS SNAGS TD PASS AGAINST ARIZONA STATE

Meet Heisman Trophy Candidate Marcus Allen

Born: March 26, 1960
Birthplace: San Diego
Age: 21
Height: 6-2
Weight: 202
Class: Senior
Major: Public Administration
Number: 33

A leading contender for the Heisman Trophy this season, Marcus Allen was the nation's No. 2 rusher and No. 1 all-purpose runner as a junior in his first season as the Trojan tailback.

In just 10 games—he missed the 11th with an eye injury—he ran for 1,563 yards and 14 touchdowns, led the team in pass receiving with 30 catches, and was even two-for-two as a passer, including a perfect 36-yard strike for a TD. His per-game rushing average of 156.3 yards a game was less than six behind George Rogers, the 1980 Heisman winner, and Marcus beat him and everyone else in winding up as the No. 1 all-purpose runner with 179.4 yards a game.

The Allen saga is even more remarkable when you consider he was still learning how to run from tailback. A high school quarterback and defensive back, he had never taken a handoff until he came to USC, and he spent his sophomore year running and blocking from fullback in front of 1979 Heisman winner Charlie White.

Nicknamed "Young Juice" for his physical resemblance to former Trojan O.J. Simpson, Allen rushed for over 200 yards in three different games last fall (216 against both Washington and Minnesota, 201 against Arizona) and just missed a fourth 200-yard day, hitting 195 against Stanford. He surpassed 100 in 9 of his 10 starts.

"Marcus is one of the top two or three players in the country," says John Robinson, "and he's improved as much between seasons as any player I've ever coached.

"With his all-around ability he's a true Renaissance man as a football player—a superb runner and accurate passer, an outstanding blocker and one of the best pass receiving college backs I've ever seen. He's also very bright and very competitive.

"Last year he didn't have the luxury of a balanced attack to help him, and he had to learn to hammer away at people, which he did very well. But this year our offense will do more things and he'll have more fun."

A first team All-Pac-10 and All-West Coast and second team All-American (UPI, Football News) pick as a junior, Allen comes into his final year already sixth on the prestigious all-time Trojan rushing list with 2,383 yards. There are 12 first team All-Americans BEHIND him on that list. He could finish his career second at USC only to Charlie White, the No. 2 rusher in NCAA history.

Blocking for White on the 1979 unbeaten USC team—the first time in his life he'd ever blocked—Allen also found time to run for 649 yards as the fullback, scoring 8 touchdowns, averaging 5.7 a carry and catching 22 passes for a 14.3 average per catch. He's caught passes in 19 of his 22 games as a starter.

"Marcus is one of those guys you could hand a golf club for the first time, and he'd hit the ball right down the middle," says Robinson. "Then he'd go help you find your ball."

Included in his running totals as a sophomore was a 105-yard, 20-carry day when White had to sit out the second half of the Texas Tech game with an injury.

As a 1978 freshman, Marcus started out as a defensive back but was moved to tailback just before the season started. In brief appearances as the No. 2 tailback that season he ran for 171 yards and a 5.5 average.

Marcus came to USC from Lincoln High School in San Diego, where he had a remarkable record. In 1977 he quarterbacked his team to the city title (12-0-1 record) and was named CIF San Diego Section Player of the Year, California Prep Athlete of the Year and All-American (Scholastic Coach, Parade, National High School Coaches teams).

As a senior he completed 145 of 300 passes (48.3%) for 1,900 yards and 18 TD's and ran 97 times for 1,198 yards (12.4 average) and 12 more touchdowns. As a safety on defense, he intercepted 11 passes, ran 4 of them back for TD's and led his team in tackles.

In Lincoln's 34-6 championship win over Kearney, Marcus scored all 5 touchdowns on runs of 85, 30, 20 and 10 yards and on a 60-yard interception return.

ALLEN THREW 36-YARD TD PASS IN 1980

A Talk With Marcus Allen...

Four years ago you were a quarterback and defensive back in high school. Did USC recruiters ever talk to you about playing tailback?

"They didn't really mention anything definite about playing tailback. They just said I was capable of playing a lot of positions. USC recruits most players because they're good athletes, and then works them in."

Well, the summer before you came here did you ever dream of being the USC tailback?

"No I didn't. Not at all. I came here expecting to be a defensive back."

You wound up playing behind Charlie White as a freshman tailback. What were the most difficult things to learn?

"Since I hadn't been a running back in high school, I had to learn everything from scratch. At first I even took the ball wrong, like I was making a basket catch in baseball. And I reached out for it, instead of letting the quarterback put it in my arms.

"I had to learn how to read the defense, how to hit the hole and how they wanted me to run. You have to attack up the field and not run laterally. You have to learn the entire offense, too. If you know the offense—where your blockers are coming from—it can really help you out."

As a sophomore you started at fullback for an unbeaten team. But again, you had to learn a new position.

"I don't think I ever recovered from my introduction. On the first practice play I ran in the fall. . .the first play. . . I got clobbered and broke my nose. Welcome to fullback.

"But I still think fullback was good for me. I always thought of myself as being tough, but this made me even more aggressive. It made me a better blocker, too. I had to dominate bigger guys, and if I did have any fear, I got rid of it playing that position."

Then you became the No. 1 tailback as a junior. Of the last six Trojan tailbacks, three won the Heisman Trophy and two finished second. Did you think of that?

"When I was a freshman tailback I knew the prestige of the position and the tradition, but I didn't really think about it because I wasn't playing much. I didn't think one day I might be a Heisman candidate.

"Not until Charlie White had left and I thought, 'Well, it's me now.'. . . That's when I first thought about things like the Heisman."

Is winning it one of your goals?

"Yes. I think I have as good a chance of winning as anybody else, although you never know what will happen. One has to anticipate and expect and hope great things will happen and I do. Whatever happens, I'm gonna try and be the best player I can."

As the nation's No. 2 rusher, you averaged 35 carries a game in 1980. Was that tough to do?

"No, I could've carried the ball more than that if they had asked me to. But I did take a lot of punishment. I can remember getting hit hard and thinking, 'Where are all these people coming from?' But I'd just get back up for the next play. You have to do that.

"I think this year we'll run the fullbacks more and pass more, and that will help. In Charlie's senior year they knew he was going to get the ball, but we kept them off balance by doing other things well. When that happens you don't get hit by as many guys."

Were you sore the next day?

"Sunday I was pretty tired, but by Monday I wasn't hurting that much. I was ready for practice.

"I worked out a lot this past summer, because I think conditioning is the most important thing about playing tailback. When you're out of shape, it affects your playing and your attitude, too.

"You say to yourself, 'Wow, I don't know if I can go this play because I'm so tired.' I want to get to the point where I'm in tip-top shape, so it won't affect my attitude at all, and I can just go all out every play."

Besides running so much, you were your team's leading receiver (30 catches) last year. Where did you learn to catch as well as you do?

"I guess it's natural, because I've always been able to catch the ball. The important thing is concentrating each time the ball comes to you.

"Our coaches also say we're going to throw a lot, so I've kept working on it. You may have that ability, but you have to work to maintain it, to improve it."

The USC tailback does a lot of interviews. Does that bother you?

"No. I like the interviews. I've always been pretty comfortable being interviewed.

Because of a facial resemblance and the way you sort of glide when you run, some people have called you 'Young Juice' after O.J. Simpson. Do you like the nickname?

"It's flattering, but I don't think about it too much. My teammates also call me M.A. for Marcus Allen.

"I've certainly never thought about running like anyone else. I've always tried to be myself. I just went out and ran. If I had my own style, it was my own style. If I ran like somebody else, I ran like somebody else. I never worried about it."

Do you worry much at all?

"No, not really. Nothing worries me too much. I try not to worry, because things can only become worse when you do. It's wasted energy. It's a detriment to your health. It drives some people to drink."

This is your senior year. Will you graduate in four years?

"That's my goal and I should. I need 32 units to graduate next June, and I'll take 16 this fall. My sophomore year when I was playing fullback I took 17. That was a heavy load for me then. One teacher got on my case, because I was struggling a little, and she told me I took too many units. But that's what I wanted to do, and I did okay.

"I think if I took 12 units, which is all you need according to the rules, I'd slack off too much. I need to put pressure on myself to keep going. One of my problems in school is I procrastinate, although when I put pressure on myself I do well. But I suppose it's bad to wait until the last minute.

"My mother always said that when sports came I was the first one out the door. With anything else, including household chores, I definitely took my time. She says I'm slower than Christmas."

How many people are in your family?

"There's my mom, Gwen, and my dad, Harold, and four brothers—Harold Jr., Michael, Damon and Darius. Darius is 3 and knows more football than I do. I also have one sister, Michele. I'm the second oldest kid.

"One thing about my father: he really disciplined us. We got everything we wanted, never had to go without anything, but we used to get some pretty good spankings. But I'm glad, because a lot of parents don't care about their children. They're always out in the street. He cared about us.

"When I was little I used to get so mad sometimes. I'd always tell my parents they didn't love me, or 'You guys like my older brother more than me.'"

Have you learned a lot the last three years at USC?

"An awful lot... just dealing with school and people, doing interviews and stuff like that. I wouldn't trade my last three years for anything in the world, because I've grown a great deal."

What do you do in your spare time?

"I like to go to dances and parties, of course, and I like to read. I like to bowl, too. I shoot around 160 or so.

"But I really like to play basketball. I've got a basketball court inside my house."

You mean outside your house.

"No, inside. The place where I live during the school year has two stories and there's room near the staircase where I've hung the basket. It's got a backboard and a regulation rim, and it's almost 10 feet high.

"When I play I just spread everything out—clear off the whole floor—and start shooting. I can even go back 15 feet and shoot free throws. A friend of mine and I play Horse."

A final question on football. How good do you think the Trojans will be this year?

"I think we'll have a real good team. We're gonna surprise a lot of people. I don't know where we'll be rated— it may even be 30th—and maybe as far as talent goes, we're not as good as some recent USC teams, but we have a lot of determined people. There are a lot of fighters on this team. It's a very hungry group."

CHIP BANKS: USC'S LEADING TACKLER, 1980

USC PLAYER SKETCHES

(Players are listed in alphabetical order by position.)

OFFENSE

QUARTERBACKS

(18) JIM ARRIVEY—6-5, 208, 21, Jr.

Arrivey had appeared in just one game in both 1979 and 1980, but last spring he made a strong run for the starting quarterback job.

"In the past Jim was plagued by inaccuracy in his throwing," said John Robinson, "but he was very accurate this spring. In fact, he improved as as much as anybody on our team.

"He's got a lot of charisma as a player, and if he continues to improve he'll have a major impact on our team. He's very much in the fight for the starting job."

Arrivey played just one series against California last fall, but he directed a 58-yard, 11-play touchdown drive—all on the ground—for the Trojans' final score in the 60-7 victory. In the march he scrambled for three yards and a first down on a third-and-one play. In 1979 he played briefly against Minnesota.

Redshirted in 1978, Jim came to USC from Shorecrest High in Seattle where he was an outstanding three-sport athlete. As a senior he led the Metropolitian League in passing, throwing for 1,200 yards and 12 TD's. He directed the team to an 8-2 record, was named the all-conference quarterback and had a best game of 14-for-26 for 220 yards.

For the basketball team Jim broke the school rebounding record, averaged 16 points a game and captained a squad that went 18-6. In track he high jumped 6-5.

A public administration major, Arrivey says his favorite pastime is "fishing." He's eager to make his mark as a Trojan.

"The worst part of being a reserve," he said before the season, "is practicing all week and then not being able to play on Saturday. In my whole life I never had to sit around before. What keeps me going is the hope I'll succeed. That's my biggest chore—to convice the coaches that I will."

(11) JOHN MAZUR—6-3, 200, 19, So.

As a freshman, leftanded John Mazur didn't see a minute of action. But he went into the fall with a slight edge in the three-way battle for the quarterback job with Jim Arrivey and Scott Tinsley.

"John has all the ingredients necessary to be a great quarterback—except experience," says John Robinson. "He's a good athlete, he's very intelligent and he's very accurate as a passer. He has that ability to flick the ball on a line.

"In fact, he's equal to Paul McDonald at the same age in accuracy, but is stronger and more physical than Paul was at that time."

Mazur came to USC in 1980 from El Camino Real High in Woodland Hills, where he was a Parade All-American and first team All-Los Angeles City choice. As a senior he led El Camino to a 9-1 record, reaching the City semifinals, and completed 79 of 186 passes (42.5%) for 1,354 yards and 10 touchdowns. He had scoring bombs of 67 and 65 yards.

John's best game as a senior came against rival Granada Hills, when he threw for 331 yards and 3 TD's, including four straight completions to drive his team 90 yards in the final minute and a half for a win. He also started as a junior, throwing for over 1,000 yards and 9 touchdowns. In baseball he was an All-Valley league pick as a pitcher and first baseman.

Asked why he came to USC, Mazur said, "Why not? It's close to home, it's great in athletics and academics, it has a great heritage—and it also has pretty girls." He lists his favorite pastimes as "jogging, beaching it and swimming," and says his favorite sports hero is someone he may face on the field—quarterback John Elway of Stanford.

As a student, Mazur is preparing to go to dental school. He has a 3.04 grade point average in biological sciences.

(15) SCOTT TINSLEY—6-2, 195, 22, Jr.

Going into 1981, Scott Tinsley was far and away the most experienced quarterback on the Trojan squad. After last year's starter, Gordon Adams, went out at halftime of the Washington game with torn ligaments. Tinsley took over and played the secnd half and all of the UCLA and Notre Dame games.

Against UCLA—when the Trojans lost 20-17 on a late touchdown bomb—Scott completed 15 of 27 passes for 146 yards and a 12-yard touchdown throw to Jeff Simmons. He also drove his team 51 yards to the Bruin 29 in the last two minutes before time ran out.

Against Notre Dame—a 20-3 upset of the unbeaten Irish—Tinsley completed 4 of 5 passes for 24 yards, as USC outgained its opponent, 212-120. His touchdown drives went for 31 and 70 yards.

"Scott did a fine job for us in the UCLA and Notre Dame games," said John Robinson, "and is as fine a mental competitor as I've ever coached. By that I mean he's always well prepared and able to adapt, no matter what the situation.

"He's improved his throwing, too. But competitiveness, confidence and leadership ability are his best qualities in the fight for the starting quarterback job."

Besides his play at the end of last season, Tinsley also threw two touchdown passes in the 60-7 rout of California, a 59-yard bomb to flanker Timmy White and a 10-yard swing pass to tailback Michael Harper. He was also the holder on placekicks for all of 1980 and most of 1979.

Scott played in three games in 1979 (completing 6 of 10 passes for 88 yards and a TD) and producing 44 and 79-yard TD drives against Minnesota. He was redshirted as a freshman in 1978.

He had a great career at Putnam City West High in Oklahoma City, making three All-American teams (Parade, Scholastic Coach, National High School Coaches). He led his team into the Oklahoma Class 4-A finals for two straight years, completing 271 of 571 passes for 3,980 yards and 31 TD's as a junior and senior. He also ran for 13 touchdowns. In his senior year alone, Tinsley completed 165 of 311 passes (53%) for 2,278 yards and 19 TD's.

As a basketball player Scott averaged 15.7 and 17 points his last two years as a guard and was All-Oklahoma City. He was also a two-year all-city choice in baseball, batting over .350 both seasons.

Born in Oklahoma City, Tinsley says he enjoys "water skiing and raccoon hunting," then adds, "I don't kill the raccoons. I just run'em." He remembers being awed by the size of Los Angeles at first.

"When I came to USC on my recruiting trip, I wasn't sure I wanted to come here," he says. "I'm pretty much of a home boy and the vast size of the city scared me at first. But now I wouldn't change a thing. Although my heart is in Oklahoma, I love it in Los Angeles.

"I can go to the beach which is my favorite part of L.A. There aren't too many beaches in Oklahoma. Or I should say there are a lot of beaches, but not lots of water."

As a student, Tinsley is a business major.

TAILBACKS

(24) ANTHONY GIBSON—5-11, 190, 19, Jr.

USC is blessed with three outstanding runners at tailback, and two of them, Anthony Gibson and Michael Harper, shared the job for the third, the injured Marcus Allen, in the 20-3 upset of unbeaten Notre Dame last season. Gibson carried 19 times for 68 yards against the Irish, including a long run of 15 yards.

"Anthony is now a proven player," says John Robinson. "His work in the Notre Dame game under all that pressure established his credentials with me. He's got the speed to break loose for a long run, and he's learning to be a very tough runner inside, too. I expect him to play a lot this season."

Gibson was the Trojans' third leading rusher in 1980, gaining 226 yards and averaging 4.9 a carry. He carried the ball in 8 of the 11 games.

As a freshman in 1979, he averaged 6.6 yards on 17 carries and had a top game of 65 yards on 6 carries against Minnesota, including runs of 33 and 19 yards.

He's another in a long line of great San Fernando High running backs (including ex-Trojan All-Americans Charles White and Anthony Davis). A Scholastic Coach All-American and first team All-Los Angeles City pick at San Fernando, Gibson rushed for 1,066 yards and an 11.8 average as a senior, including a 92-yard TD run. He also ran a 9.6 100 for the track team and lettered in basketball.

An industrial engineering major at USC, Gibson had the highest grade point average on his team at San Fernando and turned down a scholarship at Harvard.

"I had already signed a letter of intent to go to USC when I took a recruiting trip to Harvard," he said, "but I still could have gone there because the Ivy League doesn't have the national letter of intent.

"When I went to Harvard I was pretty sure I wouldn't enroll there, but I wanted to expose myself to an academic environment. I was impressed by the school, however, and when I returned home, I actually considered going.

"I wanted to play football at USC, though, because I knew if I made it here, I could have made it anywhere. If I had gone elsewhere, there would always have been that question, 'Could I have done it at USC?'"

(36) MICHAEL HARPER—5-10, 180, 20, Jr.

Harper and Anthony Gibson shared the tailback job for the injured Marcus Allen in the 20-3 upset of Notre Dame last fall, and Michael would up being named the Trojans' most valuable player in the game by ABC-TV.

For the afternoon the 5-10 sophomore ran for 87 yards on 20 carries, scored both USC touchdowns on 6 and 10-yard bursts, caught a pass for 5 yards and returned 2 punts (5.0 average) and 2 kickoffs (12.5 average).

"That game proved Harper can be a very fine player for us," said John Robinson. "He's got excellent speed and excellent ability to make tacklers miss and he's also an outstanding pass catcher. He had a great early season last fall before hurting his ribs."

Backing up Marcus Allen, Harper, who ran a 9.5 100 in high school, gained 63 yards on 11 carries against Tennessee, 43 on 9 against South Carolina and 74 on 9 with a 30-yard run against Minnesota. He also had a 60-yard kickoff return against South Carolina. But he cracked some ribs against Minnesota and had to miss the next three games.

Michael's career has also been hampered by spring injuries. He practiced only four days in 1979, before suffering a dislocated shoulder, and then missed half of last spring when the shoulder was injured again and repaired by surgery.

In 1980 he was USC's No. 2 rusher with 274 yards and a 5-yard average. In 1979 he ran for 174 and averaged 6.0 a carry. His freshman year included a 126-yard, two-touchdown day on 20 carries as a reserve against Oregon State. On his first college carry he sprinted 47 yards to the Beaver five.

As a senior at Hickman Mills High in Kansas City, Harper rushed for 2,318 yards, averaged 7.7 a carry, returned 9 punts for a 17.5 average and 7 kickoffs for a 35.6 average. He scored 33 touchdowns. He was All-State in Missouri and also All-American (Scholastic Coach, Parade teams). He had six 200-yard games, including one of 348 on a rainy day, and once scored six TD's in a single game.

A business administration major, Harper is a very thoughtful young man. He says he came halfway across the country to USC, "because it has a good program, offers great opportunity and has good weather. Being away from home will also help me become independent and mature."

Asked about the rib injury which partially wrecked his sophomore year, he says, "That injury was the worst thing that's happened to me and one of the best. When something like that happens, it makes you sit back and analyze yourself. It let me know more about myself. I found out I'm a pretty strong person."

FULLBACKS

(39) DOUG MacKENZIE—6-0, 220, 22, Sr.

Doug was the co-starter at fullback with Paul DiLulo (who has left school) the first half of last season, but torn knee cartilage and subsequent surgery knocked him out for the last half of the season. Before getting hurt, he had played in five games, and was used mostly as a blocker. His top running performance was 29 yards on 6 carries against Oregon.

Getting ready for spring practice last April, MacKenzie tore another piece of cartilage in the same knee, had it removed and missed all of spring drills.

"If Doug's knee is okay, he'll bring some experience to the fullback position," said John Robinson. "He's a fine blocker who can also play an important leadership role on our team."

As a sophomore in 1979, MacKenzie was the backup fullback to Marcus Allen, averaging 4.6 yards on 11 carries. The total included 41 yards and a long run of 20 against Oregon State. He was redshirted in 1977 and played briefly at fullback in 1978.

Doug was the leading ball carrier for Channel League champion San Marcos High in 1976, rushing for 920 yards on 160 carries (5.8 average) and 8 TD's. He was named an honorable mention All-American (Joe Namath Magazine team) and was also the league shot put champ with a toss of 57-4½. He was born in Fort Benton, Montana.

A public administration major, MacKenzie likes to go fishing and play basketball in his spare time and still remembers sheepishly the game in high school when he went into the huddle and found out he had joined up with the other team!

(31) BOB McCLANAHAN—6-0, 205, 20, Jr.

Another of those great runners out of San Fernando High, McClanahan was a prep teammate of USC tailback Anthony Gibson. He brings great speed to the fullback position.

He came off the bench to run 19 yards for a touchdown in the 60-7 rout of Cal last year and came back the next week to burst 21 yards up the middle for another score in the 34-9 win at Stanford. He and Thomas Jefferson shared the fullback job in the upset of Notre Dame, with McClanahan scooting for 47 yards on 7 carries (6.7 average). For the season he averaged 7.1 on 14 carries.

"Bob's a very good, quick runner whose blocking has improved tremendously," says John Robinson. "The Notre Dame game established him as a proven player in my mind and he's competing for the starting job."

McClanahan's progress was slowed somewhat by a severely pulled hamstring the first day of spring practice last April. It caused him to miss all 20 days of drills, but the injury cleared up after that.

As a 1979 freshman, Bob carried twice for 16 yards. At San Fernando he was a second team All-Los Angeles City pick, rushing for 1,053 yards and an 8.7 average as a senior. He also scored 13 touchdowns and had a 236-yard rushing day against Taft.

A public administration major, Bob is the nephew of Minnesota Viking runner Brent McClanhan.

McClanhan says that learning to block has been his biggest challenge at USC. "I hardly ever blocked anyone in high school," he says, "because we ran the Wishbone and all I ever did was carry the ball or fake. We did a lot of faking.

"On one of my first plays at a USC practice, I had to block Chip Banks and BAM! I got knocked down. It was one of those 'Welcome to college football' kind of hits. I learned fast that you definitely get headaches from blocking."

(23) TODD SPENCER—5-11½, 200, 19, So.

As a freshman tailback, Spencer carried the ball in only one game, running for seven yards on a pair of carries against California. But he was moved to fullback last spring and John Robinson can scarcely contain his enthusiasm about his future there.

"Todd has made dramatic progress at fullback," says Robinson. "He's an outstanding runner who could be as productive for us as Lynn Cain was. "Blocking is new to him, but he's improving fast and with more time under John Jackson's coaching he'll be as good a blocker as Cain and Marcus Allen were. He'll be an outstanding fullback."

The comparisons to Cain and Allen are, of course, very flattering. Cain ran for 977 yards in 1978 and Allen 649 the next season, and both were excellent blockers for Charlie White.

Spencer came to USC from El Cerrito High near Berkeley, where he was picked on the Scholastic Coach and Parade All-American teams, along with the All-Northern California squad.

In three years he ran for 3,666 yards and scored 37 touchdowns, setting school records for career rushing yardage, touchdowns and points in a season and career and season total offense. He had four 200-yard games, including 248 yards and three touchdowns on a rainy day.

An undeclared major in the College of Letters, Arts, and Sciences, Spencer says he enjoys listening to music in his spare time. He was born in Portland and is the son of ex-heavyweight boxer Thad Spencer.

WIDE RECEIVERS

(25) BRAD ANDERSON—6-1, 160, 23, Sr.

Slender, sure-handed Brad Anderson is one of the best-kept secrets on USC's team. For years he's been making spectacular, acrobatic catches in practice but has seen very limited action in games, catching no passes so far. As a senior he may finally have an impact.

"Brad has long been an excellent pass receiver," says John Robinson, "but his lack of size and strength have kept him from playing very much. Through maturity and hard work, however, he's become stronger and heavier.

"He's an outstanding pattern runner, like Johnny McKay and Danny Garcia were for us, and I think he'll see a lot more action and become a favorite of the fans."

Son of George Anderson, head trainer for the Oakland Raiders, Brad has spent several summers learning the fine points of catching the ball from Raider stars Fred Biletnikoff (now retired) and Cliff Branch. He was an All-Northern California, All-Bay Area and All-East Bay pick at Pinole Valley High in Northern California.

As a senior he snagged 46 passes for 804 yards, 12 TD's and a 17.5 average to pace his team to its second straight North Coast Section 4-A title. He had 7 catches for 90 yards and 2 TD's in the title game, including the winning catch. In track, Anderson was the league high hurdle champ with a mark of 14.3.

A public administration major, he loves water and snow skiing and playing the guitar and has divided loyalties. "My most thrilling moments in sports," he says, "were seeing the Raiders win two Super Bowls and being on two Rose Bowl teams."

(83) GREG BRADY—6-3, 220, 22, Sr.

Greg played 10 minutes as a junior backup to Vic Rakhshani in the Trojans' combination blocker-receiver position of V-back (lining up at flanker). He also appeared on several kickoff return teams, taking back a kickoff for 15 yards.

Now in his fifth year as a Trojan, Brady did not see action in his first three when he played quarterback. He spent a lot of time working against the No. 1 defense in practice as the opponent quarterback.

As a high school quarterback, Greg was the 1976 Arizona Player of the Year, as he led Scottsdale's Coronado High to a 13-0 season and the state championship. He threw for 1,323 yards as a senior, despite missing some time with a shoulder injury, and had a best game of 250 yards passing. He made three All-American teams (Scholastic Coach, Parade and Joe Namath Magazine), and also was an All-State first baseman in baseball, batting .430.

A public administration major, Brady says he enjoys fishing, hunting and sitting quietly with a good book. His favorite sports here is a man he never saw—Jim Thorpe.

(44) JAY CHAMPLAIN—6-3, 195, 22, Sr.

A reserve split end with good hands, Champlain has played briefly for the Trojans in 1977, 1979 and 1980, but has yet to catch a pass. He was redshirted in 1978.

One of his biggest moments last season came when he sprinted downfield against Minnesota and threw the key block to spring tailback Marcus Allen on a 37-yard touchdown run in the Trojans' 24-7 victory. He missed most of spring ball this year when he had his tonsils removed and most of it in 1980, recovering from knee surgery.

"Jay is a very competitive player whose career has been slowed by both injuries and illness," said John Robinson. "If he can establish himself early this fall, he can be a major help to us."

Champlain came to USC from St. Francis High, where he caught 25 passes for a dazzling 635 yards (25.4 average) as a senior, scoring 4 touchdowns. He also averaged 42.2 yards as a senior punter and kicked 5 of 7 field goals in his two years. Defensively, he was the starting safety for three years and earned second team All-CIF 4-A honors in the secondary. He was also All-San Gabriel Valley and All-Del Rey League as a receiver.

A business administration major, Jay says his favorite hobbies are fishing, softball and—daringly—sky diving. He was married this past July, and his wife's name is Lynn.

(26) JOHN KAMANA—6-3, 220, 20, So.

John played on all the kickoff and punt teams last season as a freshman, seeing 37 minutes of action and making 5 tackles. But his future is as a wide receiver. He'll line up at flanker this fall as a combination blocker-receiver, much in the way Vic Rakhshani played for USC the last three years (V-back).

"Kamana has outstanding potential," says John Robinson. "He has good size, speed and natural athletic ability. He needs only experience. I think he'll develop into an excellent player."

Born in Honolulu, Hawaii, Kamana played at Punahou High, where ex-Trojan Mosi Tatupu went several years ago. He was an All-Hawaii flanker as a sophomore and running back as a junior, although a leg injury wiped out most of his senior season.

In his first game at tailback as a junior he ran for 200 yards and, playing just half a season there after switching from flanker, he still wound up third in the league in rushing and averaged 8.4 yards a carry. He earned a school-record 11 letters, twice winning All-Hawaii honors at forward in basketball and leading his team to two straight state championships. In track he was the state champ in the 100 and 200-meter dashes as a sophomore and junior. He ran 100 yards in 9.8 and 100 meters in 10.7.

Kamana's father, whose name is also John, was a walk-on Trojan football player in the mid-1950s and was a teammate of current USC assistant coach Marv Goux.

(22) MALCOLM MOORE—6-5, 215, 20, Jr.

As a freshman and sophomore, Malcolm Moore averaged 17.4 yards on each of a dozen catches. It's always been said he's got tremendous potential, and now John Robinson thinks he's ready to fulfill it. He and Jeff Simmons share the job at split end.

"Malcolm is improving very fast," said the coach, "and I'm excited about his progress. His concentration on the details of being a wide receiver—along with his physical skills of size, speed and toughness—give him a chance to be a great player. He might be USC's most physical wide receiver since Hal Bedsole."

Bedsole was an All-American for the Trojan national champs of 1962.

Moore caught passes in seven different games last year, winding up with 8 total for a 16.8 average. As a freshman he played on the kicking teams and snagged 4 passes for an 18.6 average, including 3 against Minnesota. One of them was a spectacular, one-handed grab for 20 yards.

Malcolm is the youngest of four football-playing brothers, including ex-Trojan fullback Manfred and ex-Trojan safety Kenney.

The latest Moore, like his brothers, played at San Fernando High, where he made three All-American teams as a 1978 senior (Coach & Athlete, Parade, Scholastic Coach) and was a two-time All-Los Angeles City pick. Playing both split end and tight end, Malcolm snagged 32 passes as a senior for 805 yards (25.1 average) and 13 TD's on a Wishbone team that threw only 111 times.

A public administration major, Moore says he enjoys "being with my friends and family. It's been an unbelievable advantage having my older brothers sround," he adds. "I've learned so much from them—about playing football, yes, but also about life."

(29) JEFF SIMMONS—6-3, 195, 21, Jr.

Jeff Simmons says one of his biggest heroes is "Spiderman," and, like his idol, he has a tendency to do things in a spectacular way.

The starting split end as a sophomore, he was the team's No. 3 receiver with 21 catches, a 14.7 average and 4 touchdowns. He also made catches in 10 of the 11 games—and many were very big ones indeed.

Included among his scoring catches was a diving, over-the-shoulder, 38-yard end zone grab for USC's only TD in the 7-7 tie with Oregon. He also made a leaping, 15-yard TD catch against Arizona State, a 36-yard TD catch against Washington and a 12-yard, just-inside-the-sideline TD grab against UCLA.

He made 5 catches against the Bruins, 4 against Oregon and 3 against South Carolina.

"Simmons has matured into one of the best receivers on the West Coast," says John Robinson. "He's got size and speed, and he's extremely intelligent and competitive. There's no question in my mind he's on his way to great things."

As a freshman in 1979 Simmons caught just one pass—but it went a yard for touchdown against Minnesota. He also played on the special teams. He was redshirted his original freshman year of 1978 under the old redshirt rule.

Jeff missed most of last spring's workouts when he fractured his left collarbone, trying to make a diving catch. In the spring of 1980 he fractured his scapula (back of the shoulder) and again missed most of the drills. He recovered fast both years.

A teammate of USC defensive tackle Dennis Edwards at Edison High in Stockton, Simmons set a school career receiving record with 89 catches in two years. He was All-City and All-San Joaquin Athletic Association in both football and basketball, averaging 21.5 points a game as a senior in basketball and being named Player of the Year in that sport in his league and in Stockton. As a football player he also ran an interception back 70 yards for a score.

A business major, Jeff has a brother, Kevin, who plays forward on Washington State's basketball team. Asked his favorite pastimes away from football, he says, "spending time with my girl friend, Brenda, reading the Bible and studying Black literature." He insists that "Spiderman" is indeed one of his sports heroes, along with ex-Trojan wide receivers Lynn Swann, Randy Simmrin and Calvin Sweeney and current wide receiver Timmy White.

"But my two greatest heroes," he says, "are my brother, Kevin, and best friend, Hosea, because through courage and love for their fellow man they exemplify the true spirit of sports."

(6) TIMMY WHITE—5-11½, 185, 21, Jr.

One of the most highly recruited players on the team—"I think I had offers from everywhere," he says, "except maybe Alaska and Bermuda"—White seems ready to fulfill his potential. He's the starting flanker.

Playing behind now-graduated Kevin Williams, who set a USC record for touchdown catches, White caught 5 passes for a 23.6 average as a 1980 sophomore. Included among his grabs was a 59-yard scoring bomb against California. The pass, from Scott Tinsley, went about 20 yards, and Timmy simply outran everyone the rest of the way. He ran 9.6 in the 100 in high school, and had an unofficial clocking of 9.4.

"Timmy's speed and potential are comparable to Kevin Williams," says John Robinson. "But he not only has speed, he has that extra last-second burst to the ball that makes him a great deep threat. And he's shown dramatic improvement since last season."

Besides playing wide receiver, White also returned 14 punts for a 5.5 average last season. A high school All-American quarterback, he was moved to wide receiver after being redshirted in 1978 under the old frosh redshirt rule. He played 4 minutes as a backup receiver in 1979, without catching a pass, got a shot at quarterback again in the spring of 1980, then went back to wide receiver before last season.

Timmy won those All-American honors at quarterback (Coach & Athlete and Parade teams) at Asbury Park High in South Belmar, N.J. There he rushed for 740 yards (8.2 average), scored 8 TD's (including a 93-yard run) and completed 30 of 67 passes as a senior. In one game he ran for 240 yards, including scoring jaunts of 80 and 90 yards.

As a trackman he was Central Jersey champion in the 100 and 220, state indoor champ in the 60 and Eastern States champ in the 220, all in 1978. He had official clockings of 9.6 in the 100 and 21.3 in the 220, and ran 48.3 in the 440, anchoring his school's mile relay team to a state record.

A psychology major, Timmy loves to play the drums in his spare time. "I've played the drums since I was about four years old," he says, "and started playing in groups in grammar school. I was hoping to major in music at USC, but the class schedules prevented me from doing that and playing football.

"So I settled on psychology. I'd like to be a specialist for athletes and musicians. I like to help others."

Friendly and outgoing, Timmy knows how to laugh at himself. "In one practice I made this great dive for a pass," he said. "Only the ball must have been thrown about 30 yards over my head."

TIGHT ENDS

(86) MARK BOYER—6-4, 228, 19, So.

USC was loaded with good senior tight ends last season, so Boyer didn't play as a freshman. But he has a bright future.

"Mark has excellent hands and will develop into one of the best pass receiving tight hands we've had," says John Robinson. "He's also gained about 20 pounds and made great progress as a blocker."

Boyer came to USC last fall from Edison High, where he joined with standout teammates Kerwin Bell and Frank Seurer to lead a 12-2 Edison team to the Sunset League crown and Big Five title in 1979. Mark grabbed a school-record 48 passes for 707 yards and 9 TD's (another Edison record) and was named Sunset League Receiver of the Year.

He was named to the Coach & Athlete All-American team and also won All-California and All-Orange County honors. He also played safety as a senior and was the quarterback of Edison's frosh and sophomore teams. As a junior, when first string quarterback Seurer was injured in the opener, Boyer took over the position and led Edison to eight straight wins, completing 49 of 96 passes (51%) for 692 yards and 7 TD's.

An undeclared major in the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences, Mark says his favorite pastime away from football is "being a Christian." He has a 3.03 grade point average. He's also learned to keep his eyes open. "One time in high school I went out for a pass," he said, "and ran into the goal post."

(84) FRED CORNWELL—6-5, 234, 20, Jr.

Going into the 1981 season, Cornwell is the only Trojan tight end who has every caught a pass in college. He is also the starter at the positon.

As a freshman on the unbeaten 1979 team, Fred played briefly and snagged a 19-yard pass from Scott Tinsley that put the ball on the Minnesota one. Then he appeared briefly in 1980, since USC had two excellent seniors at his position.

"And now he's ready to play," says John Robinson. "He's a big, physical tight end, much like Hoby Brenner was. He's already an excellent blocker, and has also impressed us with his receiving ability. He's got a fine future."

A two-year starter as a tight end and defensive end for Canyon High in Saugus, Fred made the All-CIF Division II first team as a senior and second team as a junior. He caught 44 passes in his two seasons, started for three years as the center on the basketball team (12-point, 11-rebound average as a senior) and put the shot (58-4) and threw the discus (174-0) for the track team. He was born in the small town of Osborne, Kansas.

A civil engineering major, Cornwell likes to get out of Los Angeles and find snow. "My favorite hobby," he says, "Is driving a dog sled."

(88) PAT McCOOL—6-4, 228, 21, Jr.

Pat McCool is happy to be back home at tight end.

A tight end in high school, he played in the very first game of his freshman year of 1978 at that position, then hurt his knee, had surgery and was redshirted. In 1979 and 1980 he was a backup outside linebacker.

"Pat has made the switch from linebacker back to tight end with ease," said John Robinson. "He's among our most competitive and enthusiastic players, and, as his skills improve, he should compete for a lot of playing time."

As a linebacker in 1979, McCool played 19 minutes and made 7 tackles. In 1980 he played on all the kick teams, saw 44 minutes of action and was in on half a dozen tackles.

At Antelope Valley High School Pat was an All-CIF Division II choice as a senior and Golden League Player of the Year at tight end, catching 27 passes for 507 yards (18.8 average) and 9 TD's Both the years he started for Antelope Valley the team won the Division II championship. Pat also played basketball and high jumped, threw the discus and put the shot for the track team.

An urban planning major, McCool says he likes "fishing and other outdoor life." He was involved in a funny incident in high school. "I would up," he says, "catching a punt kicked by our own punter."

(82) NELSON WELLS—6-5, 225, 19, So.

Wells goes into the fall as a reserve tight end, after playing briefly as a freshman.

"Nelson is a very fine athlete who has a good future," says John Robinson. "But he definitely needs to mature a little more as a player."

Wells missed the first half of his senior season at Castle Park High in Chula Vista, Calif., with a stress fracture in his foot, but was still named All-American (Coach & Athlete team), All-CIF (San Diego) and All-Metropolitan League. In half a season he caught 18 passes for 382 yards (21.2 average) and 6 TD's. In one game as a junior he snagged 6 passes for 187 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

Nelson also starred in basketball, leading the team in scoring (17.2 points a game) and rebounding (11 a game) as a senior and being named team MVP his last two seasons. In track he threw the shot and discus and ran the 330-yard intermediate hurdles.

A fine arts major at USC, Nelson is already an accomplished artist. He also enjoys water skiing and says he came to USC, "because I wanted four Rose Bowl rings and two national championship rings, as well as a good education."

OFFENSIVE LINEMEN

(59) MIKE BRUMMETT—6-5, 245, 20, Jr.

A transfer last spring from California's Golden West College, Brummet goes into fall as a backup center. He hopes his USC career takes off like his junior college one did.

Mike was only a third team center as a freshman at Golden West in 1979, but in 1980 he not only started at tackle, but won first team All-State and first team All-Southern California Conference honors. He was named his team's offensive lineman of the game three times (against Pierce, L.A. Harbor and East L.A.).

Brummett also played at Huntington Beach High and wrestled, finishing third in the league as a heavyweight wrestler. He's a physical education major who says he chose USC "because of the great tradition." He's a true Southern California young man who says he enjoys this area "because of the beach and the women."

(64) ROY FOSTER—6-4, 265, 21, Sr.

At a school which has produced many great offensive linemen, strongside guard Roy Foster is already one of the best.

A first team UPI All-American as a junior, he's also on his way to being a three-year pick as an all-conference player. He was first team All-Pac-10 in both 1979 and 1980, and last season the league's defensive linemen also voted him Pac-10 Offensive Lineman of the Year.

This past summer Roy made the Playboy All-American team, the first of many potential honors in 1981.

"Roy is an outstanding candidate for this year's Outland Trophy and Lombardi Award," says John Robinson. "He's improved dramatically each year. He's big, he's got excellent speed and he's intelligent. But the thing that impresses me the most is that he's very ambitious."

USC's offensive line coach, Hudson Houck, who has coached five first team All-Americans in five years, cite's Foster's willingness to sacrifice.

"He's the perfect guard physically," says Houck, "but he also has a tremendous ability to work hard. He realized early that to be a great player you have to work hard, and he's spent a lot of time concentrating on his few weaknesses and improving them. That's why I think, as great as he's been, this should be his best year.

"Quickness and balance are also very important in a guard and Roy's got them in abundance. Whether he's blocking for the run or pass, he can hit you and keep his balance, and hit you again. What a future he's got."

Foster was fast enough to play fullback at Shawnee Mission High School in Kansas and rushed for 1,016 yards and a 5.1 average as a senior. In one game he scored 3 touchdowns. He was named second team All-State and first team All-Kansas City at the position.

He came to USC as a fullback, but was soon moved to guard—a position he had never played—and learned fast enough to play 34 minutes as a reserve guard and tackle for the 1978 national champs.

Born in Los Angeles, Roy played two years for Taft High in Southern California, before his family moved to Overland Park, Kansas. He says his mother, Willa, encouraged him to attend USC. Away from football he enjoys singing and playing cards to relax. A public administration major, Roy maintains that his biggest sports heroes are "the ones who are modest."

(55) JOE LEIMBACH—6-2, 200, 19, So.

Son of ex-USC three-year letterman Chuck Leimbach (1954-55-56), Joe made the team as a walk-on center as a freshman and snapped for all 50 of David Pryor's punts. He also played on all the kickoff return teams and occasionally appeared on the punt return teams. He is now on scholarship.

Leimbach was a first team All-Pioneer League choice as a linebacker and offensive guard at Miraleste High School, but was not recruited by the Trojans. His dad, who caught 22 passes in his career for 4 touchdowns as an end, had played with current assistant coach Marv Goux and brought Joe down to USC as double days were starting last fall.

"Special teams coach Gil Haskell wanted to see if I could snap for punts," said Joe, "so we found a long hallway in the locker room and I hiked the ball from one end to the other. He thought I did a good job and gave me a jersey."

Leimbach is an undeclared major in the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences who says his favorite pastime is surfing. He says he came to USC, because "I wanted a school that would help me in my after-school endeavors. USC alumni really stand by the school and that impressed me."

(66) BRUCE MATTHEWS—6-5, 260, 20, Jr.

On his way to being a three-year starter at weakside guard, Matthews is the brother of former Trojan All-American linebacker Clay Matthews. He's headed for a great future himself.

"Bruce will be an All-American and high draft choice in the future," says John Robinson. "He's very physical, he's made remarkable improvement in his speed and he's as intelligent as any offensive lineman we've ever had."

As a sophomore in 1980, Matthews tied senior tackle Keith Van Horne and senior linebacker Steve Busick for most minutes played on the team (310), as he not only played guard but snapped for all placekicks. As a freshman he played 21 minutes at tackle, starting against UCLA when regular Don Mosebar was hurt.

"Bruce has already played every position on the offensive line for us," says line coach Hudson Houck, "and he could be a star at any of them. He's a highly intelligent guy who's very mature and very determined. His perseverance and competitiveness are remarkable.

"When he came here, for example, he could only run 5.5 in the 40. With a lot of hard work, he knocked a full half second off that, down to 5 flat."

At Arcadia High, Matthews played both offensive and defensive tackle, winning honorable mention All-American honors, and being named first team All-CIF Division I. He was also named on the L.A. Times All-San Gabriel Valley squad. In addition, he caught and played first base for the baseball team and was an all-league heavyweight wrestler as a sophomore and junior.

Born in Raleigh, N.C., Bruce is an industrial engineering major who likes "golf, bicycle and moto-cross racing and listening to acid rock."

Why did he come to USC? "I came here because I could get a good education and play on the best team in the nation," he says. "Besides, they have good looking uniforms, too."

(71) DARRYL MOORE—6-6, 260, 19, Jr.

Moore played in just one game as a freshman and saw 18 minutes of action at tackle as a sophomore, but going into the fall he and Kelly Thomas were fighting to replace All-American Keith Van Horne at strongside tackle.

"Darryl doesn't have much experience, but he's become a very efficient player already," says John Robinson. "He's got excellent physical gifts—very long legs and arms—which will give him a chance to develop into a potentially great player. The long arms really help a lineman with pass blocking."

Moore came to USC from Venice High where he was a first team All-Los Angeles City pick at tackle as a senior, after winning second team All-City honors as a junior. He also played basketball and put the shot.

A public administration major, Moore says he chose USC "because of the winning tradition and because the school made me feel at home." He says he likes to watch cartoons and knows how to laugh at himself, too. "The funniest thing I've seen in football," he says, "was my practice performance in a film we saw. After every play I talked to myself."

(72) DON MOSEBAR—6-7, 275, 20, Jr.

Mosebar is on his way to being a four-year starter for the Trojans.

As a sophomore weakside tackle, big Don missed leading the team in time played by a minute, made the Pac-10's Academic All-Conference team and now has John Robinson very excited.

"Mosebar has got to be as good a junior lineman as we've ever had," says the Trojan coach. "He's gone from being a very good player to a great one. He's definitely an All-American candidate."

Strong words, but Mosebar has indeed been a precocious player at USC. The 1979 season was just a few minutes old when tackle Anthony Munoz (a 1980 first round draft pick) tore up his knee at Texas Tech. Mosebar, a freshman three days short of his 18th birthday, came off the bench and, not only played the rest of the way, but started the next nine games for the unbeaten Trojans with no dropoff in the attack. Only torn knee ligaments and knee surgery ended his rookie season with two games left.

"Don is an exceptionally quick learner," says line coach Hudson Houck. "When you tell him something, he seems to visualize it and incorporate it into his play right away.

"He's got great poise and maturity, along with size, speed, intelligence and the willingness to work hard. He'll be another first round draft choice for us when he's a senior."

Mosebar not only starred in football as a sophomore, but he went out for track for the first time in two years and put the shot 56-4½ as the Trojans' No. 1 man in that event. In high school he fired the 12-pound shot 64-0½ to finish second in the national meet and whirled the discus 176 feet.

As a high school football player (Mt. Whitney High in Visalia, Calif.), Don was a unanimous All-American, a member of Coach & Athlete's Super Eleven (top 11 players in the country), a unanimous pick as Northern California Player of the Year and Parade Magazine's choice as Outstanding Lineman in the Nation. Mt. Whitney went 12-1 during his junior year and 13-0 when he was a senior with the team's backs averaging 8 yards a carry over his tackle spot.

A business major, Don has a 3.00 grade point average. Born in Yakima, Wash., he still likes to escape the city and go fishing. On his football poise he says, "I just try to relax. You play better relaxed."

(74) JOE MURRAY—6-5, 265, 21, Jr.

Murray is a versatile player who went into the fall as the backup to both Bruce Matthews at weakside guard and Don Mosebar at weakside tackle.

"Joe's ability to play both guard and tackle really helps us," said John Robinson. "He's improved a lot since last year, and, if he keeps improving, can develop into a very good player."

Murray was redshirted as a freshman in 1978, then played briefly in 1979 and 1980. He came to USC from Loyola High in Los Angeles, where he made the Scholastic Coach All-American team, was a first team All-CIF Division I pick at tackle and was chosen Del Rey League Player of the Year. He played both offensive and defensive tackle and helped lead his team to a 9-2-1 record in 1977 and the CIF semifinals. Loyola's coach, ex-Trojan tailback Steve Grady, said the team ran behind Joe 80% of the time.

A history major, Murray says his favorite method of relaxing is "listening to music while playing backgammon." He says his biggest sports heroes are former Trojan linemen Keith Van Horne and Allen Pugh. "They both showed me how to be successful," he says, "and still be human at the same time."

(60) MIKE ROTH—6-3, 245, 21, Jr.

A transfer last spring to USC from West Los Angeles College, Roth is a backup center to Tony Slaton. He played tight end at West L.A., where his coach, Owen Hahn, said he was an excellent blocker. As a pass receiver he snagged 3 for 17 yards.

Last spring wasn't Mike's first exposure to USC. He played for the University of Hawaii in 1978 as a backup center and got in the game in Honolulu when the national champion Trojans beat Hawaii, 21-5. He later transferred to West Los Angeles, where he made the Dean's List for two semesters.

Roth played high school ball at Mira Costa, seeing action at tight end, tackle, guard and center in his career. In 1977 he was a first team All-CIF Division II pick at guard.

A speech communications major, Roth says he still remembers the USC marching band storming out of the tunnel during warmups in Hawaii. "I'll never forget seeing them," he says. "I was actually kind of scared."

(77) KEN RUETTGERS—6-6, 255, 19, So.

The backup to Roy Foster at strongside guard, Ruettgers played only six minutes as a Trojan freshman, but would have seen a lot more action, except for two big injuries. First he broke a hand, and, after that healed, he tore a cartilage in his right knee and had surgery.

"Ken is obviously still developing," says John Robinson, "but he has great size and fine potential. As he matures and continues to grow, I think he'll become a very good player for us."

Ruettgers came to USC from Garces High in Bakersfield where he was an All-CIF Central Section offensive and defensive lineman in 1979. He also played center and forward on the basketball team, threw the shot and discus for the track team and played a little golf.

Ken is a business major, who says he chose USC, "because I like the people and because they offered me a great educational opportunity at a well established, major private university."

(73) TONY SLATON—6-4, 250, 20, Jr.

As the backup to senior center Allen Pugh in 1980, Tony Slaton played 28 minutes as a sophomore. Now the job is his—for two years.

"I'm very excited about Tony," says John Robinson. "He can develop into a great center—and I mean great center. He's got tremendous enthusiasm for the game and his day-to-day improvement last spring was phenomenal. He's made a position that was a question mark a very solid part of our offensive line."

Slaton didn't play as a freshman in 1979, but feels that he was baptized under fire that year by rugged defensive tackle Myron Lapka.

"Myron was the toughest player I had ever faced," Slaton said. "He had so much strength and coordination that it was a challenge just to get up the nerve to go against him. But once I got the confidence to face him, I felt I could go against anyone.

"And that's why I chose USC. I saw it as a great challenge, a chance to prove to myself that I could excell in something I enjoy."

Slaton came to the Trojans from Merced High, where he was an All-Northern California pick and Lineman of the Year in the Central California Conference at offensive tackle. He also played center for the basketball team and threw the shot and discus in track.

Away from football, Tony says he enjoys listening to music and playing pickup basketball. He's a business major.

(67) KELLY THOMAS—6-6, 265, 21, Jr.

Thomas didn't play in 1978 and 1979 when he was a defensive tackle and saw just a minute of action in 1980, but going into the fall he and Darryl Moore were in a battle to replace All-American Keith Van Horne as the strongside tackle.

"Kelly is a very physical player who needs only experience to be a top level performer," says John Robinson. "He's improved tremendously since last season."

Thomas came to USC from La Mirada High, where he played offensive and defensive tackle and center during his career. As a senior in 1977 he led his team in tackles with 110, including 7 sacks. He also broke up 4 passes, caused 3 fumbles, recovered 4 fumbles and blocked 3 punts. In his spare time he snapped for punts and placekicks. And he was a unanimous pick on the All-San Gabriel Valley first team. He also wrestled and threw the shot and discus for the track team.

A public administration major, Thomas says he loves Southern California. "I enjoy fun in the sun at the beach, Palm Springs or wherever it shines," he says. He says the toughest player he's ever faced (when he played defense) was Keith Van Horne, the man he's helping to replace. "Now that I'm at offensive tackle," he says, "I would like to carry on the tradition of great USC tackles."

KICKERS

(1) SCOTT LIVINGSTON—6-1, 185, 19, So.

Scott didn't play for the Trojans as a freshman last fall, but will see duty as both a placekicker and punter this season.

"He's got a good leg," says John Robinson, "and not only will compete with freshman Steve Jordan for the placekicking job, but he's also improved to where he can give David Pryor competition for the job of punter."

Livingston was an All-Long Beach and All-Moore League placekicker at Lakewood High in 1979, hitting 5 of 14 field goals, including a long of 46 yards. Six of his misses were from further than 50 yards out. He also punted, averaging 39.2 yards on 40 kicks, kicked off and played cornerback on defense. Three of his field goals were in the season's final game. As a sophomore and junior he played at Malvern High in Arkansas, where he booted a total of 8 field goals, including 3 game winners, and kicked off.

An undeclared major in the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences, Livingston enjoys listening to music and going to the beach. He's a real student of placekicking. Before coming to USC he had attended clinics by former Ram and current pro kicking teacher Ben Agajanian since he was 10.

(17) DAVE PRYOR—6-2½, 210, 21, Jr.

Pryor has been the Trojans' punter for two years, averaging 36.7 yards on 42 kicks as a freshman and 39.8 yards on 48 kicks as a sophomore.

Although his average was longer as a sophomore, his accuracy was more spectacular as a freshman. That season he kicked the ball either dead or out of bounds inside the 20 a toal of 19 times in 21 attempts! In addition, only 17 of his 42 punts were returned. Dave's long punt as a freshman was 63 yards against Oregon State. Last year he boomed a 60-yarder against Oregon.

"Pryor has been a good punter for us for two years," says John Robinson. "But he's a very competitive player and has the potential to be a great punter. I hope he becomes one this year."

Pryor came to USC from Hemet High in the desert, where he averaged 40 yards on 36 kicks as a senior and limited opponents to a total of just 16 yards in returns. He also quarterbacked his team to the San Andreas League title and an 8-2 record, earning second team all-conference honors as a quarterback and first team honors as a punter. He played forward for the basketball team and put the shot for the track team. He came to USC in 1978 and was redshirted that season.

When he was a 13-year-old, Pryor handled pressure well enough to win the national punt-pass-and-kick title for his age group at halftime of the Super Bowl.

A free spirit, Dave says his favorite pastime is "lounging." His mother agrees that he's relaxed. "Casual is the word to describe his attitude toward life," says Betty Honicky, his mom. "Also forgetful. I let out a sigh when I saw him on the sidelines during the 1978 Alabama game on TV. It meant he remembered to catch the bus."

He's kicked since nursery school. "They had to take the ball away from him," his mother added. "He kept kicking it over the fence."

DEFENSE

DOWN LINEMEN

(78) GEORGE ACHICA—6-5, 255, 20, Jr.

First team All-Pac-10 and first team All-West Coast as a sophomore, Achica led the down linemen—and was tied for fourth on the squad—in tackles with 69, including 11 for 46 yards in losses. And he did it all in only nine games, missing two early in the season after having a small piece of cartilage removed from a knee (by an arthroscope).

Quick and aggressive, Achica had 12 tackles against Oregon, 10 against Washington, 8 against Notre Dame and 7 in four other games. Against Cal he had 4 for a loss, including a pair of quarterback sacks.

"George is a natural football player," says John Robinson. "He's got strength, speed, good instincts and plays with great enthusiasm. He's also one of the team's leaders. If he can become more efficient in his play, he'll be one of the top nose men in the country."

As a freshman in 1979, Achica was the No. 1 reserve in the defensive line, making 40 tackles in only 62 minutes of action, including 8 for a loss. He also recovered a fumble and started against Washington State when regular Ty Sperling was hurt. Against LSU that season he made 4 tackles, and 3 were for a loss.

A unanimous high school All-American, Achica was also a two-time All-Northern California choice at Andrew Hill High in San Jose. He set single season school records for tackles by a lineman (98), most quarterback sacks (12), most fumble recoveries (5) and most pressures on a quarterback (50), all as a senior. That helped his team win its second straight Mount Hamilton League title.

An outstanding wrestler, George captured the California state heavyweight title as a junior with a 35-0 record and was third as a senior (34-1). He completed his four-year career with a 130-6 mark. He also ran the 100-yard dash in 10.4 for the track team.

A public administration major, Achica is married (his wife's name is Rebecca), and he has a two-year-old son, Jason. "When I get away from football I really enjoy staying home," he says, "relaxing with my family." He was born in Samoa.

(92) DAVE CORSINOTTI—6-3, 260, 22, Sr.

A backup nose guard, Corsinotti played 25 minutes as a junior and made half a dozen tackles, including one for a loss. He also broke up a pass. But his career has been plagued by leg injuries, including surgery for torn ligaments during his sophomore year. He missed the last spring practice with more knee problems.

"Dave is a frustrated player because of those injuries," says John Robinson, "but he's also a very strong, very competitive one who wants badly to have a good senior year. If he avoids injury, I think he will."

Corsinotti played 25 minutes as a freshman defensive tackle in 1977, was redshirted in 1978 and made 3 tackles in 13 minutes of action in 1979, before hurting his knee. He came to USC from Riordan High in San Francisco, where he led his team in tackles as a senior with 75 and sacks with 13. He was honored on the All-West Catholic Athletic League first team.

Nicknamed "Bruno" by his teammates, Corsinotti is a physical education major who enjoys fishing and listening to music. His biggest sports hero is a horse—triple crown winner Secretariat. "Really," he says, "you've got to admire that horse. He not only ran like a machine, but more importantly, he ran with heart."

(70) DENNIS EDWARDS—6-4, 240, 22, Sr.

Blessed with great speed, Edwards has made 34 tackles for a loss in his three years and will finish his career as a three-season starter at tackle. As a junior in 1980 he was first team All-Pac-10 and All-West Coast and third team All-American (Football News).

"I consider Dennis a definite All-American candidate this year," says John Robinson. "He's got outstanding quickness and is one of the most competitive players we've ever had. He's also one of our most popular ones."

Edwards made 58 tackles last season, including 9 for 76 yards in losses, broke up 2 passes and recovered a fumble. Included in his total were 6 sacks for 51 yards in losses. Two of them came against Stanford's John Elway for huge losses of 14 and 19 yards. Dennis' top game in total tackles was 10 against Tennessee, and he had 8 against South Carolina.

As a sophomore he was third in tackles for the unbeaten 1979 team, winding up with 77, including 9 for 39 yards in losses. He led the team with 11 tackles against both UCLA and Texas Tech and had 10 against Notre Dame. He also knocked down a pair of passes at the line.

As a freshman with the 1978 national champs, Dennis played more in the line than any first year player Marv Goux has ever coached—except for former All-American Gary Jeter. He played 140 minutes that season, bringing down 51 runners, and led the entire team in tackles for a loss with a stunning 16 for 116 yards. When a knee injury forced starter Ty Sperling out of the Rose Bowl, he started against Michigan and made 10 tackles, including a key 10-yard sack of quarterback Rick Leach.

Against explosive Stanford that season, he came off the bench to sack quarterback Steve Dils three times, including a big 10-yarder with Stanford at the USC 35, trailing by only six points with five minutes left. (The Trojans won, 13-7.) He also led the team in tackles for a loss that year with 3 against Washington and 4 against Hawaii.

A Scholastic Coach All-American and All-Northern California pick at Edison High in Stockton, Dennis played tackle on offense and middle guard on defense, piling up 144 tackles as a senior.

A recreation major, Edwards worked with retarded children for two years at the state hospital in Stockton when he was in junior high. "I loved working with those kids, he says. "There wasn't much happiness in their lives, and whatever help I could provide might have made them feel a little better. I made their beds, played games with them, took them to dinner, issued their medicine. I felt so sorry for them. They just couldn't do the things I could do."

Away from football, Edwards relaxes by playing drums. He has six sisters and two brothers and really admires his coach, Marv Goux. "He's been like a father to me since I got here," Dennis says. "Some people only see one side of him because he's all business on the field. But that's just his style of coaching. He's really a caring, sensitive person."

(50) CLINT HAMPTON—6-2½, 240, 21, Jr.

A reserve nose guard and tackle, Hampton played 14 minutes as a sophomore and made 4 tackles. Included was a four-yard sack of Stanford's John Elway late in the Trojans' 34-9 win.

"Clint has great strength and has improved quite a bit," says John Robinson. "He's versatile enough to play both nose guard and tackle and should play a lot this season."

Hampton was a center in 1978 when he redshirted and 1979 when he was a non-playing squad member. He came to USC from Muir High, where he played only one year of varsity ball—his senior season—because of an injury as a junior. However, he made the All-CIF Division I second team as a center and the All-San Gabriel Valley team as a center and defensive tackle. He also led Muir in sacks with 6 and was second in tackles with 75.

A public administration major, Hampton says he loves to escape by going to the beach.

(63) JOHN HARVEY—6-3, 235, 21, Jr.

A spring transfer to USC from Long Beach City College, Harvey was a second team JC All-American last fall and also made the All-State second team. He also made a fast impression on John Robinson.

"John was really outstanding his last seven days of spring ball," said Robinson. "He's very fast, has good size and is learning to compete on our level. He's got a fine future."

Harvey joins an excellent group of defensive linemen and will start out as a backup tackle. As a defensive end in 1980 at Long Beach, he made 89 tackles, 62 of them unassisted, caused 3 fumbles and deflected a pass. Included in his tackles were 12 sacks, helped along by his 4.7 speed in the 40. Besides his All-American and All-State honors, he was a first team All-Metropolitan Conference choice.

In high school John played offensive tackle for Compton and was an All-Moore League pick. He says he came to USC, "because I wanted to compete with the best athletes in the nation." He's an undeclared major in the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences.

(76) DAVE PURLING—6-5, 230, 19, So.

As a freshman last fall, Purling played two minutes and made one tackle. He's a backup at tackle.

Dave came to USC from San Marcos High in Santa Barbara, which also produced the 1980 starting center for the Trojans, Allen Pugh. At San Marcos, Purling was an All-Channel League first team pick as a senior and made 63 tackles. He also caused 4 fumbles, blocked 4 passes and had 3 quarterback sacks.

An undeclared major in the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences, Purling says he enjoys surfing and painting.

(79) CHARLES USSERY—6-4, 245, 21, Sr.

When senior Ty Sperling hurt his knee and was lost for the season in double days last fall, junior Charlie Ussery stepped in at tackle and did a spectacular job. He started all 11 games, made 61 tackles, including 9 for 53 yards in losses (5 were sacks) and broke up 2 passes. He also was named honorable mention All-Pac-10.

"Charlie very seldom makes an error," says John Robinson. "He's so efficient I consider him the anchor of our defensive line. He's aggressive, determined and very physical. He knows h[illegible] to use his strength and simply does his job at a very hig[illegible] level."

Included in Ussery's sacks last year were 3 on Stanford's John Elway for 22 yards in losses early in the Trojans' 34-9 win. His top game in total tackles was 10 at Oregon, and he also made 8 against South Carolina and 7 against Washington.

Charlie played 25 minutes as a 1978 freshman, making 4 tackles, including 2 for a loss, and came back to play 23 minutes in 1979, making 8 tackles, including another 2 for a loss.

At Long Beach Poly High he was named to the Coach & Athlete and Scholastic Coach All-American teams as a defensive tackle and also played tackle on offense. He also earned All-CIF Division I second team and All-Long Beach City first team honors. He was his team's MVP, despite missing four games as a senior with a sprained ankle.

Ussery is a public administration major. His father, Charles Sr., is the Long Beach chief of police, and his younger brother, Paul, is a freshman defensive back for the Trojans. The Trojan lineman says he enjoys "hunting, fishing and women." Asked about getting his chance to start last year, he said: "Moving into the starting lineup really meant a lot to me, but I always thought I could play. I wasn't happy about the way it happened, though, with Ty being injured."

LINEBACKERS

(51) CHIP BANKS—6-5, 230, 22, Sr.

John Robinson is very direct when talking about Chip Banks.

"Chip can become the dominant defensive player in college football this year," says the coach, "and the finest linebacker in the HISTORY of USC.

"He's got great physical gifts—size, speed, balance and the natural instincts to take him as far as he wants to go. And now he's become a more intense player which should give him a chance to truly reach his potential. He's as good a big play performer as I've ever coached—and should definitely be an All-American."

And this past summer Chip made the Playboy All-American team, the first of what should be many similar honors ahead. Robinson's words are strong, but Chip's accomplishments have been spectacular.

As a junior he was a first team All-Pac-10 and All-West Coast choice and third team AP All-American. The Trojans led the Pac-10 in every team defensive category, and Banks led the Trojans in both tackles (107) and tackles for a loss (15 for 101 yards). He also broke up 10 passes, recovered 2 fumbles, threw a Cal back for a safety, had at least 1 tackle for a loss in 10 different games, was second on the defense in minutes played and made 2 incredible interceptions.

Against Notre Dame he snatched a pass out of the air five feet from quarterback Mike Courey's throwing hand and ran it back 49 yards to the Irish one to set up the field goal that knocked Notre Dame out of the game in USC's upset win. Against Arizona he swatted another pass into the air and caught it falling on his back.

"Those two plays are among the greatest you'll ever see," said Robinson.

Banks will play inside linebacker as a senior. As a junior he played eight games outside and three inside when injuries depleted the inside corps. He had 20 tackles against Oregon, 16 against Tennessee and 12 against Stanford. Of his 15 tackles for a loss, 8 were quarterback sacks.

An outside linebacker as a sophomore in 1979, Chip was the team's fourth leading tackler with 76, led in stops for a loss with 12 for 62 yards, knocked down 6 passes, intercepted another and was named second team All-Pac-10. He had 11 tackles in three different games that year.

Included in his tackles for a loss was a 3rd-and-4 sack of Ohio State quarterback Art Schlichter with about six minutes left in the Rose Bowl (for 9 yards). The Buckeyes were leading, 16-10, were on the Trojan 47, and that play broke up what could have been a game-clinching drive.

As a freshman inside backer, Banks had an immediate impact, too, playing 111 minutes as a reserve, making 45 tackles, intercepting a pass, recovering a fumble and getting 2 tackles for a loss. He had 10 stops in two different games, and started two games for the national champs.

Chip came to USC from Laney High in Georgia, reportedly recruited by 150 schools. He was a two-year All-State pick at linebacker and tight end and was also on the Scholastic Coach All-American team. As a senior he made 158 tackles, caught 10 passes and punted for a 39.5 average. He was his team's MVP as both a junior and senior.

A public administration major who was born in Norman, Okla., Chip says he enjoys listening to good jazz to relax.

"People didn't want me to leave and go way out West," he says of his decision to come to USC, "but I had wanted to come here since I was a little kid. And when the opportunity came, it was like a dream come true. USC just has more national recognition and tradition than other schools."

(58) JEFF BROWN—6-2, 220, 19, So.

Brown was a valuable special teams performer as a freshman in 1980, playing 39 minutes on all the kickoff and punt teams. He made 11 tackles, recovered a fumble and returned 3 kickoffs. He should see more action this year as a backup inside linebacker.

Jeff came to USC from Monache High in Porterville, Calif., where he was a much-honored, two-way player. As a senior he was a first team All-Northern California choice at linebacker and a first team all-league pick at fullback. He set a number of school records as a fullback, including most yards rushing in a season (1,580), most touchdowns in a season (23), most carries in a season (290), most yards rushing in a game (240) and longest from from scrimmage (94 yards). To show his versatility he was a first team all-league nose guard as a junior.

A business major with a 3.23 grade point average, Jeff says he enjoys relaxing by going fishing. He remembers an embarrassing moment in high school. "Running out to my position one day," he said, "I tripped and fell flat on my face."

(57) KEITH BROWNER—6-6, 215, 19, So.

The fifth Browner brother to play college football, Keith has a bright future. He will be alternating with junior August Curley at outside linebacker on the strong side.

"Keith has excellent natural skills, including great range and speed," says John Robinson. "He needs more strength, but maturity and weight work will take care of that. He will develop into an outstanding player."

As a freshman, Browner played 43 minutes on all the kickoff and punt teams and saw some time at outside linebacker. He made 14 tackles, including 1 for a 7-yard loss, and recovered a fumble. And, after the season, he made the USC basketball team as a reserve forward.

His older brothers include Joey, a junior cornerback at USC; Ross, the 1976 Outland Trophy winner as a defensive end at Notre Dame; Jim, an ex-Notre Dame starting defensive back; and Willard, an ex-Notre Dame and Utah State fullback.

At Southwest High in Atlanta, Keith was a great all-around athlete. He didn't even play football as a senior, concentrating on basketball, where he was a two-time All-Georgia AAA center. As a senior he averaged 16.4 points and a state-high 17.5 rebounds a game and led his team to an 18-7 record. As a junior he led his team to a 24-6 mark and the state title.

As a junior football player, Browner played outside linebacker and was the MVP on a 10-2 team. He scored 4 touchdowns on defense and made the All-Georgia AAA and All-City teams. He was also an outstanding baseball player, hitting .385 and .395 his last two years, and turning in an 11-2 pitching record. He even won several art awards for his drawings.

An undeclared major in the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences, Keith says his biggest sports heroes are his brothers, "because they taught me a lot about sports and life."

(87) AUGUST CURLEY—6-4, 223, 21, Jr.

As a sophomore outside linebacker, August Curley started against UCLA and Notre Dame for the injured senior, Eric Scoggins. But in 1981 the job at strongside outside backer belongs exclusively to him and Keith Browner.

Curley saw 114 minutes of action last year, making 36 tackles, including 4 for 12 yards in losses, and breaking up a pass. He took over for Scoggins early in the Washington game and led the Trojans in tackles with 11. He also picked a fumble out of the air at the USC one to stop a first quarter Husky drive and then fell on another loose ball at the Washington 36 in the third quarter to set up the Trojans' only touchdown. He had 7 and 9 tackles against UCLA and Notre Dame.

"Curley is Mr. Efficiency for us at a tough position," says John Robinson. "He's very intelligent and very physical and you can count on him for a solid performance every week."

August redshirted during the 1979 season, after suffering a separated shoulder during early fall drills. As a 1978 freshman on the national champs, he played 30 minutes, mostly on special teams, and made a dozen tackles.

Curley came to USC from Southwest High in Atlanta where he was an All-State pick, averaging 10 unassisted tackles and 2 sacks a game. He also played forward on the basketball team and pitched for the baseball team, throwing the first no-hitter in Southwest's history.

Born in Little Rock, Ark., Curley says his favorite hobbies are "riding motorcyles and going to the beach." He traveled across the country to USC, he says, "because it was a childhood dream." He's a business major.

(94) BYRON DARBY—6-4, 235, 21, Jr.

With Chip Banks moving from outside linebacker on the weak side to inside linebacker, quick-footed Byron Darby inherits his job—and never was a man more ready.

Byron began the 1980 season as the No. 1 reserve inside linebacker, but a series of injuries turned him into a seven-game starter at two other positions. He started four games at tackle and three at outside backer and wound up being second only to Banks in team tackles for a loss—14 for 78 yards.

Overall, Darby had 59 tackles, broke up 2 passes and recovered a fumble. Eight of his tackles for a loss were sacks, including 3 against Stanford's John Elway for losses of 6, 5 and 19 yards. He had 11 total tackles against South Carolina and 9 against Arizona State and Stanford, and was named honorable mention All-Pac-10.

"Byron has made that jump from a good player to one of the best on our team," says John Robinson. "He's got quickness and good instincts and he sure is tough. He'll be one of the best defensive players in the country this year and an All-American next year."

Called "Bear" by his teammates, Darby played 54 minutes as a freshman defensive tackle for the unbeaten '79 team and made 21 tackles, including 7 for 67 yards in losses. He also broke up 4 passes, recovered 2 fumbles and blocked a Washington State punt out of the end zone for a safety. He was redshirted his original freshman year of 1978.

Darby was a teammate of ex-Trojan linebacker Eric Scoggins at Inglewood High School, where he was a 1977 All-CIF Division I first team pick at defensive tackle. He led Inglewood in tackles with 135, including a team-high 19 sacks, and also recovered 3 fumbles. He was chosen the team's MVP and captain and was an All-Ocean League pick at tackle on both offense and defense. He also put the shot 57 feet for the track team.

A public administration major, Darby says that redshirting when he was an overweight freshman (263 pounds) was one of the best things that has happened to him. "I was really low at first," he says, "but I finally adjusted to the idea and told myself I better make the best of it. If you take the attitude you don't like what's happened to you, you won't make it. But I think redshirting that year has helped me in the long run. It wasn't much fun playing on the opponent team in practice, but it meant I was going against Pat Howell, Brad Budde and Anthony Munoz—and I really learned a lot."

(56) JEFF METTER—6-3, 225, 21, Jr.

Metter has played only briefly in his Trojan career—he saw six minutes of action last season and made 3 tackles—but he appears ready to make an impact.

"Jeff has developed into a very effective player," says John Robinson. "He's a fierce competitor and has devoted himself to learning the skills he needs to be a front-line player. I consider him an alternate starter at both outside and inside linebacker."

A redshirt in 1978, Metter was also a non-playing squad member in 1979. He came to USC from Hillsdale High in San Mateo, Calif., and gained 20 pounds in two years to enable him to play linebacker. He was a quarterback and safety at Hillsdale and was named both Offensive and Defensive Back of the Year in the Mid-Peninsula League as a senior, leading his team to the second round of the playoffs.

In seven league games Jeff rushed for 230 yards and completed 23 of 51 passes for 359 more. In the first playoff game, a 22-20 victory, he ran back two interceptions for touchdowns. He also high jumped 6-6 and triple jumped 44-7 for the track team, and wrestled. A public administration major, Jeff says he likes "fishing No. 1 and skiing No. 2." His brother, Larry, is a walk-on linebacker for the Trojans.

(48) TIM SULLIVAN—6-2, 220, 20, Jr.

As a sophomore, Sullivan played 28 minutes as a reserve inside linebacker, making 7 tackles. Four of those came in the Arizona game when he had to come off the bench and play the second half for injured starter Riki Gray. At the end of last spring he was listed No. 1 at one inside linebacker position.

"Although he lacks size, Tim is a competitive, intelligent player," says John Robinson. "He'll play a lot at both inside linebacker positions. With our lack of experience there, this team needs a big year from him."

As a freshman linebacker in 1979, Sullivan played 7 minutes but didn't make a tackle. He came to USC from St. John the Baptist High in Masapequa, N.Y. where he was a two-year All-Catholic Long Island Conference pick as an inside linebacker and offensive guard. He led St. John in tackles as a senior and blocked 3 punts. He says he'll never forget playing in his first high school game, because he intercepted a pass and ran it back for a touchdown.

Born in Bethpage, N.Y., Tim is a public administration major who says he enjoys lifting weights and racing bicycles. His brother, John, who was a starting linebacker for Illinois, now plays for the New York Jets.

(42) VICTOR VACA—6-2, 225, 20, Jr.

Vaca transferred to USC last spring from East Los Angeles College and dazzled the coaches—at inside linebacker—before suffering torn knee ligaments halfway through drills and undergoing surgery.

"Vic's first 10 days of spring practice were as good as any I've ever seen for a JC transfer," said John Robinson. "He took us by storm. He's got a natural instinct for this game and very good skills to go with that instinct. If his knee is 100%, he'll play a great deal."

At East L.A. Vaca was an honorable mention All-American pick last fall and was also named second team All-State in California and first team All-Southern California Conference. It was the second straight year he made the all-league first team.

Voted MVP by his teammates, he led East L.A. in tackles in 1980 with 122, including an incredible 80 that were unassisted. He had 4 interceptions and averaged 36 yards as a punter.

Vic went to Montebello High, where he was voted the Whitmont League's Player of the Year in 1978. He played quarterback and fullback for Montebello, in addition to linebacker, and was also a two-time all-league pick. He also played forward for the basketball team and threw the shot and discus for the track team. In 1979 he was the league's shot put champ.

An undeclared major in the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences, Vaca says he enjoys dancing and racquetball and came to USC "because it was my childhood dream."

DEFENSIVE BACKS

(41) TONY BREWER—6-2, 198, 19, So.

As a freshman member of the secondary, Brewer played only 11 minutes but made 6 tackles. At the end of spring ball, he was listed just behind Marv Williams in the fight for the starting job at free safety.

"Tony is a natural athlete who's working hard to learn the intricacies of playing safety," says John Robinson. "If his rate of improvement continues, he'll have a very fine sophomore year."

Like one of his predecessors, All-Pac-10 safety Dennis Smith, Brewer is an excellent high jumper. He cleared 6-9 at Gardena High and also triple jumped 45-3.

In football he was a terror on both sides of the line. After missing his junior year with an injury, he made 9 interceptions and 43 tackles as a senior defensive back, while catching 11 passes for 300 yards and a 27.3 average as a wide receiver. He also returned two punts for touchdowns. Against Palisades High he caught 6 passes, picked off 3 more and ran a punt back 65 yards for a TD. Needless to say, he was All-Harbor League, All-South Bay and All-Centinela South Bay.

An undeclared major in the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences, Tony says his favorite hobby is "playing my saxophone." He says the toughest player he's ever faced was Banning's Michael Alo in high school. Now Alo is his teammate at USC.

(47) JOEY BROWNER—6-3, 205, 21, Jr.

Another member of the great Browner family, Joey is on his way to being a star in his own right. Starting at corner as a sophomore, he tied for fourth on the team in tackles with 69, recovered 2 fumbles, broke up 9 passes, made an interception and returned 4 kickoffs for a 24-yard average.

"Joey may be the best cornerback I've had in my career," says John Robinson. "He's got great physical gifts—size, speed and the ability to really hit. He's also matured into a top team leader.

"I believe he can ultimately play at the same level as Ronnie Lott did."

In 1980 Lott was a unanimous All-American.

The other Browners who have made their marks in college football include younger brother Keith, a sophomore linebacker at USC, and three older brothers: Ross, the 1976 Outland Trophy winner as a Notre Dame defensive end; Jim, an ex-Notre Dame starting defensive back; and Willard, an ex-Notre Dame and Utah State fullback.

Tough against both the run and pass, Joey came up fast enough as a sophomore to make 9 tackles against Stanford, Washington, Oregon and South Carolina and had 8 against Notre Dame.

As a freshman reserve, Browner played 53 minutes, making an impressive 26 tackles. He also broke up 3 passes, picked one off and returned it 22 yards and started the Rose Bowl for injured reserve Jeff Fisher.

The remarkable thing about Browner's quick success as a college corner is that he had to learn the position at USC. He was a linebacker in high school. Born in Warren, Ohio, he was All-State as a junior at Warren Western Reserve High, before transferring to Southwest High in Atlanta, when his family moved. At Southwest, he was a Scholastic Coach and Parade All-American, and also earned All-South, Georgia Class 3-A Lineman of the Year and Atlanta Player of the Year honors.

As a senior he made 120 unassisted tackles and intercepted 3 passes to help Southwest to a 10-2 record. In one game he scored on a 93-yard kickoff return and 53-yard pass and made 13 unassisted tackles.

A public administration major, Joey, a true family man, says he enjoys "helping and playing with children." He says older brother Ross is his biggest sports hero, "because he was the most honored lineman of the 70's."

The first Browner to turn down Notre Dame, Joey says, "I never really considered going to Notre Dame, because I wanted to go somewhere I could make a name for myself. They recruited me and were very nice to me, but if I had gone there, everything I might have done would have been compared to Ross or Jim.

"I remember when I told Ross I was going to USC, he said if that's what I really wanted, then it was fine with him.

"Besides, the way I look at it, USC is just like Notre Dame, except that it doesn't have a golden dome. And it isn't as cold."

Joey says he and his brothers must have inherited a lot of their talent from their mother, Geraldine.

"She was the first athlete in the family," he says. "She's a pretty big woman, about 5-10, and you should see her swing a baseball bat."

(28) MICHAEL DAVIS—6-0, 185, 22, Sr.

A backup tailback who was nagged by injuries throughout his USC career, Davis was moved to cornerback last spring, where he backs up Joe Turner. As a junior tailback he ran for 51 yards on only 7 carries, bursting 5 yards for a touchdown against California.

"Time is Michael's only problem," says John Robinson. "He's got to learn a new position very quickly. But he's got excellent speed and wants badly to be successful. If he can learn fast, he should play a lot."

Davis played at San Bernardino High, rushing for 1,100 yards as a senior, although he missed two league games with an injury. He scored 5 touchdowns in one game and was a sprinter in track, running 9.7 in the 100 and 49.8 in the 440.

A public administration major, Michael is married (his wife's name is Pat). He says he enjoys bowling, skating and listening to good music in his spare time. He still remembers with embarrassment a game in high school when he was tackled fiercely and his pants were torn off.

(38) ELLIS HANSELL—6-1, 195, 22, Sr.

A non-playing squad member in 1980, Hansell is a walk-on who came out of spring practice as Joey Browner's backup at cornerback.

Born in New Orleans, Hansell was a defensive back and outside linebacker at St. Augustine High there. He's a public administration major at USC who says he enjoys music, reading and being with friends.

One thing he says he has is a tolerance for pain. "I dislocated my thumb in a high school game," he says, "and it took several minutes for me to notice it. Once I saw it I was amazed that I could play without any pain for all that time."

(14) DARREL HOPPER—6-1, 175, 19, So.

A fall transfer to USC from El Camino College, Hopper had to sit out last fall's JC season after surgery for a broken bone in his wrist. He suffered the injury in a summer prep all-star game.

Darrel comes to USC, however, with great credentials. At Carson High he was the 1979 Co-Los Angeles City Player of the Year, sharing the honor with Banning junior running back and current Trojan freshman Michael Alo.

As he led Carson to the runnerup spot for the City title, Hopper did everything for the team but carry equipment. On defense he set a City career interception record with 21, shattering the old mark of 12. He had 12 thefts his senior year alone and also deflected 16 passes and made 87 tackles.

On offense he caught 14 passes for 416 yards, a 29.7 average and 5 touchdowns, and he also returned punts (14 for 116 yards) and kickoffs (4 for 64). As a kicker, he had a 43.3-yard punting average on 37 kicks with a long of 65, and he also handled the kickoff duties.

In his junior year Darrel made 9 interceptions, running two of them back for TD's, broke up 16 passes and was in on 59 tackles. He also scooped up a short field goal attempt and ran it back 100 yards for a touchdown. His other honors as a senior included first team All-City, Marine League Co-Player of the Year and All-South Bay honors.

(30) TIM SHANNON—6-3, 200, 21, Jr.

A backup at strong safety, Shannon played 44 minutes as a sophomore in 1980, making 8 tackles and breaking up a pair of passes. He also made 8 tackles as a freshman in 15 minutes of action and recovered a fumble.

"Tim is a very competitive player who's worked hard to overcome a lack of quickness," says John Robinson. "He's a physical, intelligent guy who should see a lot of action."

To play as a sophomore, Shannon had to work hard to recover from spring surgery for a separated shoulder. But he proved his toughness in high school, where he was a Coach & Athlete All-American at Christian Brothers High in St. Louis as a quarterback and linebacker, despite playing the last six games of his senior year with torn rib cartil-

age. He was also All-State in Missouri.

On defense that season he made 115 tackles, had 6 interceptions and 3 quarterback sacks. And on offense he ran for 642 yards (6.1 average), scored 7 TD's and threw for 351 yards and 3 more scores out of the Wishbone. He was also a star third baseman in baseball and went 6-for-6 with 3 homers in one game.

Shannon's father, Mike started at third base for the St. Louis Cardinals on world championship teams in 1964 and 1967, and Tim says his father is his biggest sports hero. "I have great respect and admiration for him," he says. A public administration major with a 3.05 grade point average, Tim says he enjoys "bass fishing, raccoon hunting and golf." He has a pet python named "Pete."

(34) JOE TURNER—6-2, 205, 21, Sr.

John Robinson has always believed seniors who start for the first time can be big factors in a team's success. For example, there was Steve Busick in 1980, a linebacker who became a starter and was second on the team in tackles. The coach believes cornerback Joe Turner can be just as important in 1981.

Joe was a top reserve in 1980, playing 32 minutes, breaking up a pair of passes and making half a dozen tackles, before missing the last two games after surgery for a dislocated shoulder. Now he's a new starter at corner.

"This is Joe's year," says Robinson. "He played effectively as a junior, but that shoulder bothered him most of the season. Now he's healthy and should have an outstanding senior year. College teams often depend quite a bit on seniors who get a big chance in their last season, and we expect Joe to come through. He's a physical, intelligent player with good ability."

Turner transferred to USC in the spring of 1980 from Ventura Junior College, where he won honorable mention All-Western States Conference honors at corner in 1979. He made 53 tackles, picked off a pass and blocked 2 punts and ran them in for touchdowns. He was a quarterback at Dominguez High School and was switched to defense for the first time in the middle of his freshman year at Ventura.

Born in Brooklyn, Turner says he enjoys "hanging out." He came to USC, he says, "because it's close to home, because I'd have a chance to play on a national championship team and because it has an outstanding public administration department." Needless to say, he's a public administration major.

(9) TROY WEST—6-1, 210, 20, Jr.

Troy not only has a perfect name for a USC player, but it didn't take him long to become a starter. With the graduation of Ronnie Lott and Dennis Smith, the Trojans were looking for new safeties, and West, a transfer from Mt. San Antonio College, won the job at strong safety in spring drills.

"Troy was a JC linebacker, but he's made the adjustment to safety very well," says John Robinson. "He's a very physical guy who should have a fine year."

Troy made 96 tackles, had 3 quarterback sacks, broke up 2 passes and had an interception for Mt. Sac's South Coast Conference champs last fall, and he did it all in 8 games. He was chosen his team's defensive player of the game three times.

A physical education major, West played linebacker and running back at Covina High, winning all-league honors. He says, "Playing for USC is my biggest thrill in sports so far."

(45) MARV WILLIAMS—5-10, 184, 21, Jr.

Marv was a great high school running back. At USC he may become famous for his play on defense.

A backup safety and special teams performer as a sophomore, Williams played 20 minutes, making 7 tackles and running back 3 kickoffs for a 16.7 average. But last spring he wound up as the starter at free safety, just ahead of Tony Brewer.

"Marv is an extremely competitive player, and that competitiveness and intensity caught all of our eyes," said John Robinson. "In his attitude, in fact, he reminds me of our ex-All-American, Dennis Thurman. He'll be a good safety for us—and I think fans will find him an exciting player to watch."

Williams was the fourth leading rusher in Southern California CIF history at Colton High, where he ran for 4,553 yards in his career. He played both tailback and fullback during his senior year, darting for 1,883 yards and scoring 22 touchdowns. He led Colton to the Southeastern Conference title and was voted CIF Division II Player of the Year. He also finished his career with 384 points on a remarkable 64 touchdowns to wind up as No. 3 scorer in CIF history.

Marv played tailback his first spring at USC, but the coaching staff saw defensive potential in him and moved him to safety in the fall of 1979. He appeared in one game as a freshman.

An undeclared major in the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences, Williams says he relaxes by playing racquetball, riding his bike and going rollerskating. He was so loyal to Colton High that when his family moved closer to Los Angeles he moved in with coach Don Markham for three years to stay and play at Colton.

most consistent player," said Garces line coach Michael Dolak. "His best football is ahead of him."

(65) DAVID FLUTTS—Offensive Line, 6-6, 245

An All-CIF Division II second team defensive tackle at Warren High in Downey (Calif.), where he had 49 tackles and five quarterback sacks last year...Also named to All-San Gabriel Valley League and All-Los Angeles Times Southeast Area first teams as defensive tackle...Played primarily defense as prep, but according to Warren coach Randy Drake, "he has the makings of an outstanding college offensive lineman."

(89) TOM HALLOCK—Tight End, 6-6, 230

He caught 18 passes for 229 yards (12.7 average) and two TDs in 1980 from his tight end spot for Santa Ynez High near Solvang (Calif.)...Also had 43 solo and 24 assisted tackles, six blocked passes, four fumble recoveries and an interception while playing defensive end...Named to the Best of the West squad, first team All-Los Padres League tight end and second team all-league defensive end last season...Was second team all-league tight end as junior...Also was league MVP in basketball as a senior and played baseball during sophomore year..."Tom's leadership and determination give him an extra dimension that complements his athletic ability," says Santa Ynez coach Ken Gruendyhe. "He's one of the most dedicated and hardest working players I've known."

(54) NEIL HOPE—Linebacker, 6-2, 205

Among the nation's best prep linebackers last year, he was named to the Parade and Scholastic Coach All-America teams...In three seasons at Los Angeles' Fairfax High, he had 205 unassisted tackles, eight interceptions and nine fumble recoveries...Led Fairfax in tackles in nine straight games last year...Was also All-L.A. City and All-Freeway League in 1980...Also sprinted and hurdled on track team...Runs 4.7 in the 40 and bench presses 340 pounds..."Neil is an outstanding athlete who was the heart of our defense the past three years," notes Fairfax coach Frank Allesandro.

(3) DUAINE JACKSON—Defensive Back, 6-1, 190

A two-year starting defensive back for two-time CIF Big Five champion Edison High in Huntington Beach (Calif.)... Last year, was Scholastic Coach honorable mention, first team All-CIF Big Five, All-Orange County, All-Orange Coast Area, and Sunset League Defensive Back of the Year...Had 42 tackles, three interceptions, eight pass deflections, two fumble recoveries and a blocked punt in 1980...Also scored three touchdowns on 21 rushes for 234 yards...Returned a kickoff 85 yards as a junior... Played in Orange County All-Star Game and Shrine Game last year...Runs 40 yards in 4.6, 100 in 10.0, and 440 in 49.7..."Duaine is an intelligent and physical player who provides leadership," said Edison coach Bill Workman. "He always comes through in the clutch."

(8) MATT JOHNSON—Defensive Back, 6-3, 200

An outstanding two-way performer at Castle Park High in Chula Vista near San Diego, alma mater of current Trojan tight end Nelson Wells...Matt caught 26 passes for 354 yards and two scores as a flanker last year and had 45 tackles, three interceptions, five pass deflections and three fumble recoveries as a safety...Was named to the All-Metropolitan League team as a safety...Runs 40 in 4.6... Also All-Metropolitan League second team in basketball, averaging 18 points a game...Long jumped 21-11 and ran the 440-yard dash in 50.5..."He has the rare combination of great talent and mental toughness," said Chula Vista coach Bob Korzep.

(5) STEVE JORDAN—Placekicker, 5-9, 165

The brother of Frank Jordan, USC's career field goal record holder whose dramatic last-second three-pointers beat UCLA in 1977 and Notre Dame in 1978...Steve was successful on 18 of 23 field goal attempts and 38 of 41 extra point tries in his career at Riordan High in San Francisco...Hit four field goals over 50 yards, including a 51 and 52-yarder in one game (the 51-yarder won the contest with four seconds left)...Longest was 53 yards...Was Scholastic Coach honorable mention in 1980...Named to the All-Northern California, All-San Francisco Bay Area and All-West Catholic Athletic League teams the past two years...Is the third Riordan kicker in a row to attend USC (brother Frank and then Eric Hipp preceeded him).

(91) MATT KOART—Defensive Line, 6-6, 220

Was a defensive tackle and offensive guard at Dos Pueblos High in Goleta (Calif.), near Santa Barbara...Named to All-CIF Division II second team as an offensive guard in 1980...Also All-Channel League first team, as well as MVP and team captain at Dos Pueblos..."Matt has an incredible desire to excel in whatever he does," notes Dos Pueblos coach Connie Barger.

(37) ZEPHRINI LEE—Tailback-Fullback, 6-3, 205

He gained 1,242 yards on 205 carries (103.5 yards a game) in his first year playing fullback last year at San Francisco's Lincoln High...Also averaged nine tackles a game and intercepted five passes as a linebacker...Was named the Academic Athletic Association's Player of the Year in 1980, All-Northern California, San Francisco Progress City Player of the Year and Best of the West...Was a tight end as junior...Can bench press 340 pounds and run 100 yards in 10.0...Also played basketball and ran track... "Zef has great size, plus moves and speed to spare," said Lincoln coach John Martin.

(69) TOM LUEKER—Offensive Line, 6-6, 245

He was one of only two non-California prep players to sign with USC...Was injured in West Springfield (Virg.) High's third game last year and missed the rest of the season, but has the size and tools needed to become a fine offensive lineman.

(90) BRIAN LUFT—Defensive Line, 6-6, 255

Was the Defensive Lineman of the Year in the North Yosemite League during his junior and senior seasons at Fresno's Bullard High...Made Scholastic Coach honorable mention in 1980...Also was a two-year All-Fresno Area choice...Brian also played tight end his junior year...Was twice named to the All-Northern California soccer squad as a goalie...Has 5.2 speed in the 40.

(97) BRENT MOORE—Linebacker, 6-5, 210

He started on the defensive line for three years at San Marin High in Novato in Northern California...Was a first team All-Marin County League choice the past two seasons...Had 53 tackles last year...Also caught 12 passes for 151 yards as a tight end in 1980..."Brent is an exceptional pass rusher," said San Marin coach John Prell.

(93) JOMO PAGE—Defensive Line, 6-3, 230

Named the CIF Division III Player of the Year as a defensive lineman from Pius X High in Downey (Calif.)...Had 92 tackles, 19 quarterback sacks, 12 pass deflections and five fumble recoveries last season...Made Scholastic Coach honorable mention...Was also named Mission League Defensive Player of the Year in 1980, All-Angelus League first team in 1979 and All-Los Angeles Times Southeast Area for three years (Player of the Year last season)...Only player on Pius X to play both ways in 1980..."He's extremely quick for a big man and was our most consistent performer," noted Pius X coach Michael Marrujo. "Every team we played ran the ball away from Jomo."

(40) BILL PRINDLE—Defensive Back, 5-10, 170

Although he was just a tailback last year at Fresno High, he'll be moved to the secondary at USC, a spot he played during his sophomore and junior years...Rushed for 1,135 yards on 95 carries (11.9-yard average) and 15 touchdowns in 1980...Many of his scores were long runs (for example, 79, 72, 64, and 49 yards)...Had two games gaining over 250 yards and three others over 100 last season...Also caught nine passes for 118 yards...Picked up 491 yards as a junior and 875 as a soph...Was All-North Yosemite League and All-Metro in 1980...Runs the 40 in 4.6 and 100 in 9.8...Has a 3.6 (out of 4.0) prep grade point average..."Bill is a coach's player," said Fresno coach Ron Itskoff. "He has an ability to find a hole and, along with his speed, there's power."

(7) SEAN SALISBURY—Quarterback, 6-5, 205

One of the nation's top prep quarterbacks, collecting Parade, Scholastic Coach and National High School Football Coaches Association All-America honors last season at Orange Glen High in Escondido (near San Diego)...Completed 49.6% of his passes for 2,913 yards and 24 touchdowns as a junior and senior...Accounted for 3,201 yards of total offense in those two years and threw for more than 200 yards in a game five times...As a junior alone, completed 129 passes for 1,743 yards and 17 TDs...Had a 38.4-yard punting average over two seasons and connected on eight of 13 extra point tries last year...Was a two-time All-CIF San Diego County (Player of the Year in 1979) and All-Palomar League selection, as well as a unanimous Best of the West choice in 1980...Also a talented basketball player, making the All-CIF San Diego County and All-Palomar League teams the past two years...Was a .300 hitting outfielder and pitcher for the baseball team, too...Chose USC over San Diego State and BYU.

(68) STEVE SIMMS—Offensive Line, 6-5, 240

He was a Scholastic Coach honorable mention and L.A. City second team offensive guard last year at Locke High in Los Angeles...Also selected to All-South Bay and All-Southern League teams...Was named Locke's MVP and team captain..."Steve is an excellent pass and downfield blocker," notes Locke coach E.C. Robinson. "He can contain a block or pull either way very well."

(27) PAUL USSERY—Defensive Back, 6-1, 185

The brother of senior defensive tackle Charlie Ussery, Paul enrolled at USC in the spring of 1981 and went through spring drills...Was the Moore League Defensive Player of the Year last year at Long Beach Poly High, where he had 78 solo and 30 assisted tackles, plus six sacks and an interception as a linebacker... Made Scholastic Coach honorable mention... Was named to the All-CIF Division II squad, as well as All-South Coast and All-Long Beach City... Started three years on the varsity... Runs the 40 in 4.6... "Paul's abilities are unlimited," notes Poly coach Jim Barnett. "He has quick feet and is able to change directions on a dime."

(19) TIMMIE WARE—Wide Receiver, 5-10, 170

He's a blazing wide receiver from Centennial High in Compton (Calif.) known as much for his speed as for his pass catching... Last year, caught a school-record 44 passes for 1,014 yards and nine touchdowns... Also returned kickoffs an average of 27 yards and played free safety on defense... In one game, he collected 300 yards of total offense with three TDs and in another had 12 receptions for 276 yards and three scores... Named first team All-Bay League and All-South Coast in 1980... Was one of state's top 400-meter runners, with a best of 48.1... Has gone 9.7 in the 100-yard dash, 21.4 in 200 meters, and long jumped 23 feet... Was a member of Centennial's record-setting 1,600-meter relay team in 1980.

USC: NO. 1 IN THE NFL

Again this year USC has the most players among universities represented in the National Football League.

Going into training camp there were 64 ex-Trojans on NFL rosters, including 16 rookies. USC players were on the rosters of 24 of the NFL's 28 teams.

Last season there were 37 Trojans on the final rosters. Next best were Oklahoma with 32 and Penn State with 30.

Many of the USC pros came from the two most highly drafted classes in college football history—1975 and 1977 (1974 and 1976 seasons). Both these classes had 14 players drafted, an all-time record.

ALL-TIME USC ALL-AMERICA SELECTIONS

The following is a complete listing of all USC football players who have ever received first team All-American honors. Although there are several teams selected throughout the country, the NCAA now recognizes only four in determining whether a player is a unanimous or consensus choice—UPI, AP, Football Coaches Association and Football Writers Association.

HEISMAN SALUTE

MIKE GARRETT — 1965

Mike Garrett, USC's first Heisman Trophy winner — and only the second chosen on the West Coast — set an NCAA career rushing record (since broken) by running for 3,221 yards in his three-year career.

The popular Garrett won the Heisman over such outstanding 1965 collegians as Bob Griese, Floyd Little, Tommy Nobis, Jim Grabowski, Donny Anderson and Howard Twilly.

Garrett, Anthony Davis and Charles White are the only players to lead USC in rushing for three straight years. Mike later starred for the Kansas City Chiefs and San Diego Chargers.

HEISMAN SALUTE

O. J. SIMPSON — 1968

O.J. Simpson became USC's second Heisman Trophy winner in 1968 when he captured the award by the most one-sided margin in the history of the balloting.

During the regular 1968 season O.J. established an NCAA record for yards rushing — 1709 — in a single season (since bettered). He equaled or bettered no less than 13 USC records.

Simpson also holds the NFL single season rushing record of 2,003 yards set in 1973 and finished his 11-year pro career as the second leading NFL career rusher behind Jim Brown.

HEISMAN SALUTE

CHARLES WHITE — 1979

Charles White, USC's third Heisman Trophy winner, finished his four-year Trojan career as the NCAA's second leading rusher ever with 5,598 regular season yards. Including bowl games, he finished with a Pac-10 record 6,245.

A two-year unanimous All-American, White set or equaled 22 NCAA, Pac-10, USC and Rose Bowl records. He gained over 100 yards 31 times in his career, including 10 times in 1979.

In that senior season, Charlie averaged 186.4 yards a game, 6.2 yards a carry, led the nation in rushing, and, for the second straight season, led it in all-purpose running.

HEISMAN WINNERS

1965 Mike Garrett, USC, TB
1966 Steve Spurrier, Florida, QB
1967 Gary Beban, UCLA, QB

1979 Charles White, USC, TB
1980 George Rogers, South Carolina, HB

LOMBARDI SALUTE

BRAD BUDDE — 1979

In 1979, offensive guard Brad Budde became USC's first recipient of the coveted Lombardi Award, given to the nation's outstanding college lineman who also "best exemplifies the discipline of Vince Lombardi."

Budde was a unanimous All-American as a senior and was also runnerup in the Outland Trophy voting. A four-year starter at Troy, he was the first freshman to start a USC season opener since World War II.

The son of ex-Kansas City Chiefs' All-Pro Ed Budde, Brad followed his father there as the Chiefs' first-round draft pick in 1980.

LOMBARDI WINNERS

1970 Jim Stillwagon, Ohio State, DG/LB

1971 Walt Patulski, Notre Dame, DE

OUTLAND SALUTE

RON YARY — 1967

Ron Yary is the only USC player to win the Outland Trophy, which goes to the outstanding lineman in the nation and is selected by the Football Writers Association of America.

Yary was a two-time consensus All-American offensive tackle for the Trojans and was a unanimous All-American pick in 1967 when he won the Outland. That season he led the way for O.J. Simpson. The first player selected in the 1968 pro draft, he is now a perennial All-Pro with the Minnesota Vikings.

PAUL McDONALD SET 17 PASSING MARKS IN 1978-79

ALL-TIME LETTER WINNERS

Various standards have been used to determine USC letter winners over the years, but since 1976, squad members who have played at least 30 minutes have been listed here as lettermen.

There have been many exceptions to that rule, including kickers and others who contributed significantly to the team's success without playing 30 minutes.

In addition, senior squad members who have been on the team for several years have generally been awarded letters for their senior season, as long as they appeared in at least one game. This has been a long-standing policy.

THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

The University of Southern California, an educational enterprise of uncommon diversity and distinction, came into being in 1880. This academic year the University begins its second century of teaching, research and service.

Because USC is an independent institution supported by private donors, it continues to offer many worthwhile opportunities for creative and significant philanthropy in the vital field of higher learning.

Some facts of significance about the University include the following:

- USC, one of only 24 leading private research universities in the United States, is a member of the Association of American Universities, the most esteemed organization of academic institutions.

- Enrollment stands at 25,000, including 12,600 full-time undergraduates; 4,600 full-time graduate or professional students; 2,700 part-time undergraduates; 5,400 part-time graduate or professional students.

- USC provides Southern California with a significant portion of its professionals: 48% of the judges and 40% of the attorneys in Los Angeles County are USC graduates; more than 2,000 physicians, 13,000 engineers, 45% of the pharmacists, 60% of the social workers, dentists and school administrators in Southern California earned their degrees at USC.

- In the professions, USC has long been a leader. The University is the home of 21 professional schools which train specialists in fields ranging from medicine and law to architecture, education and library science. USC professional school graduates are serving society's needs in both the United States and hundreds of foreign countries.

- Its Division of Cinema and Schools of Social Work, Public Administration and International Relations are among the oldest such schools in the country.

- In basic research, USC is also nationally and internationally prominent. Today, USC stands 19th among all colleges and universities nationally in total federal funding of research.

- In medicine, USC was one of only eight institutions originally invited to begin a comprehensive cancer research center.

- Included among USC's distinguished alumni are astronauts Neil Armstrong, Alan Bean, James Lovell, and Walter Schirra; former Federal Commissioner of Education Ernest L. Boyer; columnist Art Buchwald; former U.S. Representative Yvonne Braithwaite Burke; Metropolitan Opera star Marilyn Horne; artist Mary Corita Kent; author Irving Stone; actress Marlo Thomas; symphony conductor Michael Tilson Thomas; the late actor John Wayne; former CBS-TV Network President Robert D. Wood.

JAMES H. ZUMBERGE

University President

James H. Zumberge is the ninth president of the University of Southern California. The former president of Southern Methodist University assumed the USC presidency in August, 1980. He succeeded Dr. John R. Hubbard, who retired after serving 10 years as president.

Dr. Zumberge became president as the University celebrated its Centennial Year—1880 to 1980.

Zumberge, 57 brought a distinguished record as a scholar, scientist, educator and administrator to the post.

His credentials as an educational administrator include service as president of Southern Methodist University from 1975 to 1980, chancellor of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln from 1972 to 1975, dean of the College of Earth Sciences at the University of Arizona from 1968 to 1972, and president of Grand Valley State College in Michigan from 1962 to 1968.

Zumberge was awarded his B.A. and Ph.D. in geology from the University of Minnesota, following service in the Marine Corps from March 1943 to December 1945.

He is the author of 10 books, including the widely used text "The Elements of Geology," and of more than 100 journal articles and papers given at national and international meetings.

A member of the Antarctic Advisory Committee to the U.S. Department of State, Zumberge is chairman of the Committee on International Polar Relations of the Polar Research Board of the National Academy of Sciences. He has been active as glaciologist and chief organizer for several Antarctic expeditions. Cape Zumberge, Antarctica, was named in his honor in 1960.

Other recognition includes the James H. Zumberge Library at Grand Valley State College, named in his honor in 1968. He holds three honorary degrees, an LL.D. from Grand Valley State College in 1979, an L.H.D. from Nebraska Wesleyan University in 1972, and an LL.D. from Kwansei-Gakuin University, Nishinomiya, Japan, in 1979.

In 1974, he was appointed by President Ford to a six-year term on the National Science Board. He is a member of the board of overseers of the Hoover Institution and chairman of the Visiting Committee of the General Motors Institute.

He also is a director of the Dallas Power and Light Co., the General American Oil Co., and Dresser Industries. He is also a member of the Navy League.

Zumberge was born in Minneapolis, Minn., on December 27, 1923. He is married to the former Marilyn Edwards, and they have four children, John, JoEllen, James and Mark.
